WHITE BELIEVES COX CHARGE TRUE

Has No Evidence But Has Confidence in Nominee, He Tells Committee

Declares Cox Told Him That
He Was Sure of His Ground

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, said on the stand today before the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures that he had no evidence to sustain any one of the charges made by Governor Cox, his party's presidential nominee as to campaign funds and quotas, or the alleged desire of contributors "to have back of them in industrial centers the bayonets of their puppets in office."

He told Chairman Kenyon that he believed the charges were true because he had confidence in Governor Cox, but he had not discussed them in detail with the nominee and brought nothing from him to aid the committee in sitting them.

"I talked with Governor Cox last Sunday for a few minutes," said Mr. White. "I asked him: 'Are you sure of your ground?' He said he was and I told him: 'You are the boss and you run it.'"

Senator Kenyon asked if Mr. White did not consider it "the duty of the men who have this evidence, if it exists, to give it to us, whether they are presidential candidates or not," and when the witness did not reply the chairman said he realized the query might be embarrassing and he would not press it out of respect to Mr. White's relations with Governor Cox.

MIDDLESEX STREET GRADE CROSSING

A hearing on a motion to recommend and other motions in connection with the proposed abolition of the Middlesex street grade crossing will be held in the superior court in Boston on Sept. 16, City Solicitor William D. Regan was notified today.

The grade crossing question has been hanging fire for many years. The state authorities held a hearing on the matter several years ago, but no actual work was ever done on the project. Last winter the chamber of commerce re-opened agitation to have the grade crossing abolished and later the city council instructed the city solicitor to take the necessary steps to have the matter taken up again.

LARCENY OF LIMOUSINE

Three Young Men Held in $10,000 Each for Superior Court

Fourth Defendant Found Not Guilty—More Autoists Arraigned Today

Peter Bourgas, aged 18 years, of 8 Jackson street, Nashua, N. H.; Thomas Lynch, aged 20, a laborer of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and John F. L. Goetz, aged 21, a carpenter of 95 Knickerbocker avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. were represented by counsel this morning when their case, charging the theft of a Cadillac limousine valued at $7000 from the rear of the Runnels buildings about 8.30 o'clock on the evening of August 23, was called on for continuance in police court. All three confirmed their former pleas of guilty and through counsel waived a hearing. Judge Frederic A. Fisher then found probable cause for a finding of guilty and ordered the defendants to be held under $10,000 each for trial in superior court.

Howard E. Newell, aged 23, a chauffeur of 123 Shaw street this city who was arrested in connection with the theft and entered a plea of not guilty when the case was first called and was ordered under $10,000 bonds for trial today, was discharged.

The case involves the theft of a limousine, owned by Elizabeth Deery of Salem, which was parked in Canal street on the evening of August 23 while the owner and friends were at a party.

PLAN TO PREVENT SNOW-BOUND ROADS

If the plans of the Lowell chamber of commerce and the state department of public works materialize, there will be fewer blocked roads leading from Lowell this winter than there were last winter when traffic was seriously interfered with.

The state authorities, realizing the inconvenience that was caused last winter by the blocking of many of the main state highways on account of the excessive amount of snow, this year are preparing to enlist the aid of a battery of snowplows which will be attached to trucks loaned for the purpose by private owners. The co-operation of cities and towns along state highways is being sought and President William N. Goodell of the local chamber of commerce was in conference today with officials of the department of public works in Boston in an effort to have several of the plows assigned to highways between Lowell and Boston.

DEATH TODAY OF FIREMAN FINNERTY

Patrick J. Finnerty, a member of the local fire department, died this noon at his home, 69 High street, after a brief illness. Deceased leaves his wife, Katherine; his mother, Mary, and a brother, Hugh, as well as several nephews and nieces. Deceased had been connected with the local fire department for the past 12 or 13 years. His first duties being at the High street house. About four years ago he was transferred to Truck company No. 2 at the Central fire station, where he remained up to the time of his illness.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

Declaration of Principles Not Approved By the Lowell
Chamber of Commerce

Despite the fact that 23 other commercial and industrial organizations in the state of Massachusetts have gone on record in support of a declaration of 12 principles of industrial relations designed to establish a basis on which employers and employees may work out employment problems, the Lowell chamber of commerce did not see fit to approve this referendum when presented to it recently by the chamber of commerce of the United States.

The principles involve the right of open-shop operation which is declared to be an essential part of the individual rights of both employers and employees, adequate means for the satisfactory adjustment of employment relations between employers and employees, the right of the state to extend its power of regulation and protection to employees of public utility corporations and various other rights of workers and their employers.

The principles to question were very vigorously denounced at the summer school for commercial executives held recently by the American City Bureau at Madison, Wis., according to Assistant Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the local chamber of commerce, who attended the school. One of the principal objections advanced against them was the fact that they embraced questions wholly outside the scope of chamber of commerce jurisdiction.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM SOLVED

HONOLULU, Sept. 1.—(By Associated Press).—Negotiations between Secretary of State Coby and Ambassador Shidehara at Washington have reached a solution of the Japanese immigration problem in the United States, according to a Tokyo dispatch to the Nippon Jiji, a Japanese newspaper here, giving its authority as the Kokumin Shinbun, a Tokyo newspaper which credited the report to "a reliable source."

BITTER FIGHTS ARE RESUMED

Nationalists, Unionists and Belfast Casualty List Heavy

—214 Fires in Nationalists'
Homes Since Wednesday

RELFEST, Sept. 1.—Fighting was resumed here today between nationalist, unionist shipyard workers from the Shankill district and troops. Heavy firing continued nearly half an hour. It was believed the casualty list was heavy. The fighting centered about North street.

That thoroughfare was thronged with shipyard workers at 8 o'clock. Suddenly there was a series of revolver shots, apparently coming from Mill field which is the center of the nationalists' streets abutting on North street. Nearby military pickets rushed to the scene, took shelter behind walls and poured in a fierce fire, which was returned by snipers. The battle was accompanied by the shrieking of mill and foundry sirens.

MAJOR MACSWINEY HAS CHANGE FOR WORSE

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Terrence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who has been on a hunger strike since Aug. 12, suffered a change for the worse today in Brixton prison. Late morning editions of London newspapers said he was sinking rapidly. A complete numbness of the limbs has developed and MacSwiney can no longer speak because of weakness.

Lord Stamfordham, private secretary to King George, has replied to a letter from Horatio William Bottomley, member of parliament, urging the release of MacSwiney. He told Mr. Bottomley that, even if the king favored the release of the mayor it could be effected only by the sovereign's personal action in the face of the advice of his ministers, with the presumable result that they would resign. It declared also that there was the further risk that the country at large might regard the release as a grave political crisis at a time of special national stress and anxiety.

FIREHOUSE AUCTIONED

Westford Street House Put on Market at Public Auction Today

The Westford street firehouse, located at the corner of Westford and Lane streets, and for many years one of the landmarks of the Highlands district, was put on the market at public auction this afternoon, when Auctioneer Simon B. Harris, at the direction of Commissioners George F. Marchand and John F. Salmon, offered the building and the land on which it is built to the highest bidder.

The building was closed as a firehouse several months ago and its apparatus transferred to the Branch street house. The closing of the Westford street house is a part of a program of readjustment being carried out by Commissioner Salmon which will embrace the erection of a hangar type of engine house at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets, the elimination of the Warren street house and the erection of another bungalow type of station in the Highlands. Proceeds of this afternoon's sale to be devoted to the erection of the new house in the Highlands.

The Westford street house is a two-story brick building of mill construction. Its lower floor has been used for ladder trucks and chemicals and contains stalls for horses. The second floor is divided into a large dormitory, locker room, toilet and hay loft. In the basement is a boiler for heating purposes. The lot on which the building is situated contains 4610 square feet of land.

LOCAL SCHOOL MASTERS

School Board Head Objects to Employment of Out-of-Town Teachers

"If the school department authorities of the city of Lowell are to persist in their policy of sending out of town for people to instruct our children, as evidenced by their selection last evening of John G. Wolcott, a teacher in the Cambridge high school, as a grammar school master for the local department, there is no use of parents of Lowell boys and girls giving their children education designed to fit them to become teachers." The State Normal school might as well be taken from the city," said Chairman Thomas B. Delaney of the school committee today in commenting upon the action of three members of the committee at its meeting last evening.

Mr. Delaney maintains that there is plenty of available material in Lowell from which to choose grammar school masters without going out of town. Mr. Wolcott's training and experience were totally unknown to him until last evening, he said, and no actual proof of his qualifications was offered. He cites the cases of Herbert D. Bixby and Carl D. Burtt, both of whom were taken from the local school department and are now recognized as leaders in education by the authorities of Cleveland, Ohio. If the city can produce educators of this type, Chairman Delaney maintains, there is little need of going out of town looking for material.

Mr. Delaney also wishes to correct the impression that he said at last evening's meeting that he would vote for a woman in preference to an out of town candidate. What he did say was that whether the candidates were men or women, he believed local people should have first preference.

He cited the cases of two women teachers who were elected grammar school principals last year. To date, the school committee has had no complaint about their work and he sees no reason why women cannot be chosen for principals when other women occur.

One of the two grammar school masters elected last evening was coed Arthur E. Whitcomb, who was signed as master of the Green school, while the second was signed to the Butler school to replace place of Thomas A. Glavin, who been assigned to continuation school work.

Wage Scale Stands

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The American Woolen Co., whose mills have been shut down, will start the preparatory departments on Sept. 13 and other departments thereafter as soon as possible, according to an announcement by William M. Wood, president of the company today.

President Wood's statement added: "The wage scale will be the same as when the mills were forced to shut down in July."

The American Woolen Co. has 5 mills in New England and New York and employs upwards of 35,000 operatives, about half of whom are in the mills at Lawrence.

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of El Salvador, Aug. 31.—Alarm has been caused at Corinto, the most important Pacific port of Nicaragua, by a subsidence of the earth along the coast. The island which lies just off the shore is being invaded by the sea, and the people are leaving. The road company operating the line between Corinto and Managua, of Nicaragua, has posted a notice at the station at Chinandega, 25 miles from Corinto, announcing that more trains will be run between Corinto and Leon, 51 miles up the coast.

Corinto is situated on the north end of the Nicaraguan coast where volcanic origin. In the narrow between the Cordillera and the Pacific ocean, there are many evidences of volcanic energy.

DAY CELEBRATION
Lowell's Labor day celebration Monday will be one of the most elaborate held in many years, according to tentative plans which will be more definite form after a meeting of the committee in charge of the service tomorrow evening.

The present program calls for a street parade in the early afternoon, a baseball game later in the day, a mass meeting with prominent speakers on the South common in the evening, and a review of the parade at city hall. Members of the city government will also attend the meeting in the evening where Mayor Perry D. Thomas will be one of the speakers. The service will be under the auspices of the Trades & Labor council. The number of unions which have representatives in the parade has not been known until after Thursday's meeting.

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 1.—"There, but for the grace of God, go I," said John Wesley, pointing to a down-and-out of his day, and this is the spirit that dominates Miss Blanche Morse, as she takes hold of California's newest and America's biggest social venture of its kind—the State Industrial Home for Women.

For years California used to treat its Magdalenes like lepers. It would either draw its skirts aside and ignore them, or it would arrest them as "vagabonds," keep them in jail, or fatten the cities' coffers with their earnings in fines.

Lowell Boys Are Athletic

boys merely because they attended the playgrounds regularly, but only after they have passed tests requiring athletic skill. This competition has been known as the athletic badge contest and was introduced into the playgrounds curriculum this season at the behest of the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

This organization has mapped out certain tests of skill which boys must pass before being entitled to the medals. The tests are divided into three classes, the first for boys 13 years of age or under, the second for boys between 13 and 15, and the third for boys of high school age. In the first class the contestant must "chin" himself, that is pull up his own weight on a bar, at least four times, must be able to jump two feet, five inches in a standing broad jump, and must run 60 yards in 8.5 seconds.

The second test for older boys calls for "chinning" six times, a standing broad jump of six feet, six inches and a 60-yard dash in eight seconds.

The third test for boys of high school age provides that the contestant must chin himself nine times, jump four feet, four inches, in a running high jump and run 220 yards in 25 seconds.

These stipulations have been tried out in public schools in various parts of the country and have been found to be fair standards of a boy's athletic skill. Boys on all the local playgrounds have entered the competition for medals this summer and 220 have shown themselves capable of meeting the test requirements of their age.

They will be presented the medals tomorrow afternoon. The medals are designed by the Playground & Recreation association but are paid for by the park department. No medal is awarded unless the playground supervisor certifies in writing that the applicant has met the required tests.

A saving of $5,000,000 of stock on the farms of the country was made last year by the killing of 32,000 wild animals.

Grass Cloth Effects

Very satisfactory decorative effects may be secured by using a wall paper in grass cloth effects. These are copies of Japanese grass cloths which are selling at from four to ten dollars a roll. The imitations are very good and are reasonably priced. They come in all colors and are generally used with a cut-out border to set them off.

The first imitations of grass cloths came in what are called cross running—that is with the pattern running across the strip. These have the same fault as is seen in the true grass cloths—namely that the seams are very apt to show. There being no exact match to these patterns. Later, however, we have been getting a lot of what are called up and down patterns in which the pattern runs lengthwise of the strip. These hang much better than the cross grass cloths because the pattern helps to hide the seams.

In our department we show mounted on display a great many grass cloth patterns. These give you a very good idea of just how a pattern will look when hung. All patterns are shown with their match borders kept separate with or without borders.

One of a series of helpful hints to those in need of Wall Paper.

BRIDE'S MOTHER USES HORSEWHIP ON GROOM

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Harry R. Daniel, secretary of the W. Straus & Co., New York, today was on a honeymoon trip to Decatur, Ind., bearing on his face and shoulders the marks of a horsewhipping bestowed by the bride's mother yesterday in the crowded union station here. Mrs. Charles M. Cooper of Indianapolis, mother of the bride, met the Minneapolis train on which her daughter arrived simultaneously with the appearance of Daniel.

When Miss Cooper ran to Daniel with an affectionate greeting, Mrs. Cooper drew a black snake whip from under her coat and began slashing Daniel. Detective Sergeant Terence Kelly, whom Mrs. Cooper had brought along to break up an expected elopement, also got in the path of stray lashes.

In spite of parental objections, Daniel and Miss Cooper secured a license and were married when police refused to interfere on learning that Miss Cooper would be 20 years of age next Sunday. Daniel gave his age as 46.

Daniel said he had brought his sister, Mrs. C. C. Shafer of Decatur to Chicago and had planned merely a brief visit to his fiancée, but "the marriage was really precipitated by Mrs. Cooper's action."

The bride's father, Charles M. Cooper, is an Indianapolis manufacturer.

AUTOIST HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Anastasios Anastasios of 91 Jefferson street had a narrow escape from serious injury in an automobile accident, which occurred in Merrimack street late yesterday afternoon.

It seems that Anastasios was behind a repair truck of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Ry. Co. upon which was a ladder extending beyond the tail out his hand as a signal that he was going to stop. It appears, however, that the signal was not seen by Anastasios, who drove his car into the truck. The extension ladder went through his wind shield and through the top, tearing the latter into pieces. Fortunately for Anastasios, when the collision occurred he dropped to the bottom of his car, for otherwise, according to witnesses of the accident, he would have had the top of his head taken off. The other machine was not damaged.

The Island of Marken, in Holland was once entirely submerged, but has risen from the water and is now a thriving settlement of fishermen.

U. S. Infantrymen and Mobs Clash in West Virginia Coal Fields

1000 Rounds of Ammunition Fired—Threats to Extend Strike

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Further military measures were expected in West Virginia coal fields today as a result of two skirmishes between United States infantrymen and mobs during which more than 1000 rounds of ammunition were fired and machine guns were used by the soldiers yesterday.

A mob of 200 men formed on both sides of the mountain above Chaffaboy and began to march toward the homes of the officials of the Howard colliery C. This mob was challenged by a corporal's guard of infantrymen and put to flight. A number of shots were exchanged.

A larger force attempted an armed attack on the Thacker Coal

& Coke Co. Soldiers swept the surrounding woods with machine fire and routed the invaders. Threats were made by striking miners in this field to extend the strike to Kentucky.

The production of quicksilver in the United States in 1915 was 21,348 flasks, a decrease of 11,535 flasks as compared with 1913.

OMITS ER OF NOTT

Down After Hours on Grill and Confesses to Crime

Declares He and Victim
Tumbled Down Stairs
During Struggle

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 1.—After being grilled for hours by Coroner John J. Phelan, Superintendent of Police Patrick Flanagan and other officers, Elwood B. Wade, 23, of 110 Hillside avenue, broke down last night and confessed, according to the police to the murder of George E. Nott of 265 Jackson avenue, whose body was found in a trunk in a quicksand swamp at Easton.

According to the statement made to the police last night by Wade, he went to the Nott home Sunday morning armed with a piece of lead pipe and a pistol with the intention of punning Nott in retaliation for a threat the murdered man made to "get Wade." Johnson accompanied Wade to the scene of the murder and both young men conversed with Mrs. Nott for over an hour while the intended victim slept in a room in the attic of the house.

Wade finally decided to go to Nott's room and was accompanied up the stairs by Johnson. The furniture of the room was so situated that the bed occupied by Nott faced a mirror which was on a direct line with the open door.

"As I approached the door Nott saw me in the mirror, and I obtained a glimpse of him in a like manner," Wade declares. "He said: 'You get out of here,' and with that he sprang from the bed and we grappled. Johnson and Mrs. Nott fled to the lower part of the house."

Fell Down Two Flights

The youth declared they fought on the landing of the third floor and finally tumbled to the second story where another stand was made.

The actual murder, according to Wade, was committed on the first floor of the house after they had tumbled down another flight of stairs, during which time Wade fired four shots from his pistol. Near the entrance to the house, Wade declares, he stabbed Nott several times. Nineteen knife wounds were found in the body. Neither the accused or the police can account for the manner in which Wade obtained the knife.

After Nott had breathed his last, the body was put in the trunk, where it remained until late Sunday night.

Wade in confession does not absolve Mrs. Nott. Neither does he accuse her of taking part in the crime.

The grilling took place in the room in which the crime was committed.

Recommends Var-ne-sis

To All Who Suffer From Rheumatism

Further Proof That

VAR-NE-SIS

W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

Dear Sir:—For six years I suffered with rheumatism. My knees were so stiff I could scarcely walk, and in going up stairs I had to pull myself up by taking hold of the rail. I suffered constant pain. Physicians said I had muscular neuralgia, and I took many remedies without relief. At times I was unable to turn in bed. My stomach was so bad that I could scarcely retain food. I took Var-ne-sis and found it of great value for my stomach as well as for my rheumatism, as I am now free from rheumatism and can eat anything with no ill effects. Var-ne-sis is a wonderful medicine and I can recommend it to all suffering as I did.

Mrs. MARGARET MAHONEY, 522 Fifth Ave., North Troy, N.Y.

Var-ne-sis is a vegetable remedy that has been remarkably successful in chronic cases of rheumatism, particularly those cases that have been treated with ordinary remedies month after month without result. VAR-NE-SIS RUB-ON EASES PAIN

Wade, who had been ordered by Nott to cease his attentions to Mrs. Nott maintained for a long time an attitude of defiance, insisting that Mrs. Nott killed her husband. Mrs. Nott is at Bridgeport hospital under guard, suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Wade and his fellow milk pedler, John B. Johnson, 20, of 4 Beardslet lane, as well as Mrs. Nott are held without bonds for the murder of Nott.

Find Weapons in Barrel

A revolver, hatchet and piece of lead pipe alleged to have been used as weapons in the murder of Nott, were found in a barrel at the Nott home yesterday afternoon. A bloody bed pillow was also found in the barrel.

Nott's head was battered in, apparently with the piece of pipe which was found yesterday, there were 18 stab wounds on his body and several bullet wounds. An effort had apparently been made to cut off the man's head by hacking at the base of the skull with the hatchet. The murder was committed about 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mrs. Nott and Wade used lace curtains, towels and clothing to remove all traces of the crime.

The shots had been heard by neighbors and one of the neighbors notified Daniel Ferguson of 23 Horace street, a friend of the dead man. When Ferguson visited the Nott home Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Mrs. Nott came to the front door. "Mrs. Nott," said Ferguson, "one of the neighbors has told me there were shots fired in your home this morning. I believe something has happened to my friend, George. I want your house searched, you can take your choice of letting me look over the premises or having me call in the police."

"Come right in," said Mrs. Nott, "nothing is amiss here."

Passed Trunk With Body

Ferguson entered the Nott apartment on the second floor of 365 Judson av. and made a search. He saw Mrs. Nott's trunk standing on the floor, but thought nothing of it. Had he looked inside the trunk he would have found the body of his friend.

Ferguson passed a clothes closet without bothering to look inside. Had he looked he would have discovered young Wade, crouched in the back of the closet behind some old clothes. This was revealed to the police yesterday.

While Nott's body was in the trunk through the long Sunday afternoon the player piano in the Nott home was constantly playing. Jazz tunes followed operatic selections and popular ballads. Instead of disarming the suspicion of neighbors, continual playing only served to convince them that something was wrong. Never before had the player piano been used in the Nott home so continuously on a Sunday afternoon.

The trunk containing the body was carried away on Wade's truck at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Monday night Johnson on being told that the facts of the murder were known, broke down and told of how the trunk had been disposed of.

Wade, while denying that he killed Nott, agreed to take the police to the spot in the Easton swamp where the trunk containing Nott's body had been dumped.

Mrs. Hutchinson, mother of the dead man's wife, who lives in Chelsea, was notified Monday of the arrest of her daughter on the charge of murder and is making haste to the side of her daughter. Mrs. Nott's two children are being cared for by friends.

NUXATED IRON

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, says:

"It is my opinion that in practically all cases of iron deficiency and vitality are due to deficiency of iron in the blood. I am convinced that there are thousands of men, women and children who, simply by taking Nuxated Iron, might readily build up their red blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get their nervous back to vibrant and vigorous health."

WORST TORNADO IN MANY YEARS

Buildings Cut in Two—25
Razed at Weymouth—
Much Live Stock Killed

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—A general view of the wreckage left in the wake of the tornado that late yesterday swept through parts of the towns of Weymouth, Hingham, Holbrook, Randolph and Braintree, was in progress in those places today. No one was seriously injured but damage estimated at thousands of dollars was caused by the destruction of dwellings, farm buildings and crops, and the killing of much live stock.

The tornado was the worst that has struck Massachusetts in years and it left a streak of ruin from 100 to 600 feet wide where the wind had passed. Twisted buildings and others cut in half as though a huge knife had severed them, flattened fields where ripening crops had stood, dead livestock and fallen trees and wire communication equipment made up the scene today.

The greatest damage was done at Weymouth where 25 buildings were destroyed with estimated loss of $150,000. Among the sights there was the veranda from the home of John H. Roman, lodged in a great pine tree, 300 yards from the house. A picture that had been nailed to the wall in a room of the parish house of the Church of St. Francis Xavier, was found nailed to the floor as though it had been fastened there with a hammer.

Great Trees Uprooted

Pleasant street, the main thoroughfare in South Weymouth was still littered with debris today. Great trees along the roadside which had been uprooted by the storm and thrown across the street had to be sawed to make the road passable.

Near the Weymouth Fair grounds what yesterday was a grove of stately pines today had the appearance of a lot of giant toothpicks stuck in the ground, many of the trees having been stripped of limbs and foliage and others snapped off by the wind.

having supper in Page's restaurant. Lieut. Petrie, Lieut. Maher and Serg. Dwyer of the local police and Inspector Lehane of Salem later recovered the stolen property in the garage on School street owned by Leo Rind of 695 School street.

The ground of Newell's plea of not guilty was that he was not connected with the stealing of the auto and that he did not know anything about the plans of the other three defendants. In court this morning, Leo Rind testified that on the evening of August 23 Newell drove the other men to his house and requested that he rent his garage to them for storage of a limousine. Rind declared that Lynch, Bourgeois and Goetz said they wanted it to store a limousine for four months while they made repairs upon it. After arrangements were made Newell then drove the three men off in his machine.

About 12 o'clock that same night, according to Rind, Lynch, Goetz and Bourgeois woke him up and asked for the key to the garage. They then drove the Deery limousine into the garage and went off. Rind then became suspicious, searched through the machine and found the license registration of the Salem owner and early next morning drove to Salem and notified the police. On the evening of the same day Lynch, Goetz and Bourgeois were arrested. Newell was also booked as being implicated in the affair.

Judge Fisher made his finding of no probable cause for guilt in the Newell case on the fact that the government failed to show that Newell

Reckless Driving

Frank S. Howard, driver of a truck, was found guilty of driving in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and was continued until Sept. 4 for sentence. Motorcycle Officer Hamilton testified that on the afternoon of Aug. 25 Howard drove along Mammoth road at the rate of 35 miles per hour without giving any signal at the intersection of streets. He said that where he stopped Howard was in a very thickly populated section.

Bertrand E. Tremblay was found guilty of a similar charge and was ordered to pay a fine of $20. Sergt. Maguire and Motorcycle Officer Kivian figured in this arrest and stated that the defendant drove his machine at the rate of 40 miles per hour.

Ordinances Violated

Amos P. Best, president of a local taxi corporation was fined $20 on two counts of violating the city parking and battery upon Peter Dudutis was put over for trial on September 8. Margaret Pinfold charged with lewd behavior and William Pinfold, charged with violation of the Mann act, pleaded guilty and were both held under $500 bonds for trial on September 8. Both are residents of Providence, R. I., but have been living in Gorham street.

Two charges were dismissed because of insufficient evidence. Through counsel, Mr. Best appealed the decision.

Mr. Henry Shawl, an employee of Mr. Best was also charged with violating the parking laws for Paige street and was fined $20. An appeal was entered. Mr. Best went surety for himself and Mr. Shawl.

Other Offenders

Patrick McMahon pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was ordered to the state farm at Bridgewater. The defendant entered an appeal.

Frank A. Rogers, charged with drunkenness, at first entered a plea of not guilty but when his case was put over until September 2 for trial because of the lack of witnesses for the government, he changed the plea to guilty. He was then ordered to the house of correction for two months.

John Salukis, charged with assault and battery upon Peter Dudutis was

by Olive Roberts Barin

THE BUMBLE BARKER'S BLANKETS

Mr. Bumble-Bee chuckled to himself when Tingaling, the fairy landlord, and the twins began to search for the lost Green Shoes in his sticky dining room. Wonder if it was all over an accident that he had up- set several honey-pots as he passed through, for Mrs. Bumble kept her honey stored up in the neatest little round jars you ever saw.

It was so dim that the children and the fairy were covered with honey when Tingaling was afraid to lose sight of his wary tenant, so away they started again, flitting out of the dining room in search of Mr. Bumble-Bee's bedroom. And the bumping and stumbling started all over again, for the further they went, the darker the place got and they couldn't see an inch in front of their noses. The worst of it was that whatever they touched now stuck to them tight, for honey is like ex-quite up to their chins before they found their Green Shoes and slipped them on again. Even so, they didn't forget the errand they had come upon, and Nick had the big pocket-book all ready to put Mr. Bumble's rent into when he paid Tingaling.

"Now, Bumble," called the fairyman, "Got your rent all ready for us? It's the thirty-second day of the month."

"I'm getting it," called Mr. Bee from a distance. "I'm back in the bedroom."

cellent glue, and they were quite covered. Mr. Bee, standing in the far corner of his bedroom, laughed until his sides shook (but it sounded exactly like buzzing). "I'll tell you what he had done. He had unwrapped his babies from their fuzzy covers and laid the woolly blankets on the floor. And the fairy and the twins, unsuspectingly, stepped right into them."

has not the delicious spiciness of a baked ham. The vinegar that has been sweetened and spiced for sweet pickles is a good substitute for the "old Madeira" in which the famous Virginian hams were baked.

BAKED SWEET POTATOES
5 sweet potatoes
1/2 brown sugar
1-1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1-1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Salt and pepper

Boil sugar and water until a soft ball is formed in water. Add lemon juice and nutmeg. Bake or boil potatoes (all) nearly done. Peel and cut in halves lengthwise. Put in a buttered baking dish rounded side down. Dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over part of the syrup. Add remaining potatoes, salt, pepper and butter. Pour over rest of syrup. Bake until slightly browned. Serve from the baking dish.

PEACH CUP
4 large peaches
1 pint orange ice
Raspberry sauce

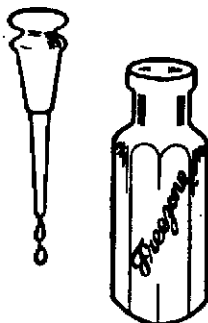

Put the peaches, sliced, in high-standing sherbert glasses, one peach for each glass. Fill the glass with the ice and pour raspberry sauce over the whole.

LICENSE COMMISSION

At the regular meeting of the license commission held last evening the following minor permits were granted: Junk dealers, Thomas F. Burbank, 463 Middlesex street and Andrew Martin, 142 Cushing street; lodging house, Rose Augur, 120 Cabot street; public amusement for dancing, A. W. DeMott, Howe building; public amusement for theatre, Truitt Qui Vive, Colonial theatre, 51 Middlesex street; to sell ice cream on the Lord's Day, Felix Laroche, 27 Ward street, Margaret Kelley, 147 Gorham street; Felix Keipinski, 293 Lakeview avenue; Frank Rollins, 62 Adams street; Michael J. Husson, 100 Suffolk street. The following licenses were surrendered and cancelled: Common victualler, Dobrowski, 101 Lakeview avenue; to sell ice cream on the Lord's Day, Emile de Laplante, 27 Ward street; coffee house, Tattersall company, 51 Dummer street. Permission to withdraw an application for license for an intelligence bureau at 41 Middlesex street was granted to John F. Fife.

COX ENDORSED BY LABOR

Some months ago the American Federation of Labor decided to enter politics, not as the ally of any political organization, but to support the candidates irrespective of party, who are fairest to labor. In pursuance of that policy the American Federation of Labor, after a careful scrutiny of the official record of the two presidential nominees, has come out squarely in support of Governor Cox. To reach a decision on this question, a committee consisting of President Gompers, Vice President Mathew Woll and Secretary Frank Morrison, examined the record of both candidates on legislative matters and general policies of administration and giving out their finding they say:

"There can be but one conclusion based upon a careful and impartial survey of the actions of the candidates. Gov. Cox has shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of the needs of the working people, a readier response to their needs and their proposals and a broader statesmanship in his public discussions of the problems of the industrial world."

Moreover, Gov. Cox is credited with more clarity and candor in taking a positive stand on public questions than can be attributed to Senator Harding. To clinch its argument and fortify its position against attack, the committee adds:

"Moreover, and as an argument that admits of no qualifying denial, there is Gov. Cox's record as governor of Ohio, during which he acted upon fifty-nine measures of interest to labor without acting on a single one adversely to labor. This is a record of fidelity to humanity, of understanding of the needs of the great masses of the people, that has few equals in American political life."

There is just one question on which the republicans are quite clear and emphatic. That is the Mexican problem. On this they are actually jingoistic, a fact that was made still more apparent by the speech of Governor Coolidge at last Saturday's meeting at Boston. The American A. F. of L. officials do not like a warlike policy toward Mexico; and this is another reason why they favor the democratic candidate as against the republican.

With rebuke of course, the republicans repudiate the alleged disclosures of their campaign methods by Governor Cox, but his quotations from a republican official document, are not thus explained away.

SEIZING SAGHALIN

The United States some weeks ago sought an explanation from Japan as to why that nation has assumed sovereignty over the entire island of Saghalin. There seemed to be but little excuse for interference by the United States on a matter so far removed from its shores or even from its commercial activities. In view of our present friction with Japan, it might be assumed that we should be glad to hear of Japan finding an outlet for her surplus population almost anywhere else than in the United States.

It appears, however, that there is no particular menace in Japan's assumption of control over the island, a part of which belongs to Russia and no doubt, it is in defense of Russian interests, that the American protest has been made. It is presumed that if Japan wants permanent possession of the island, she will have little difficulty in making such an arrangement just as soon as any representative body secures control of Russian affairs.

It was Japanese explorers who discovered Saghalin to be an island and not a peninsula as it appeared on the map previous to 1859 and the Russians had so little use for the island that it was used only as a penal colony for Siberian convicts. In 1875 the southern part of the island was ceded to Russia, but by the treaty of Portsmouth, after the Russo-Japanese war, this area, possibly two-fifths of the whole, was returned to Japan.

The island has an average temperature around freezing point throughout the year, and there is but three months of vegetation. The population is about 5000 and the chief importance of the island seems to lie in the fact that it is off shore, opposite a strong Siberian port. We do not believe it is worthy of becoming an issue in international affairs. The matter lies between Russia and Japan and they can settle it easily without making it a cause of war. Otherwise it could be referred for decision to the League of Nations or to the Root court of international justice.

HONORING OUR HEROES

The Army and Navy club of New York is endeavoring to secure a complete list of the officers who gave their lives in the world war in order that their names may be preserved in the $3,000,000 memorial hall and officers' clubhouse to be erected in New York city. Undoubtedly friends of officers, who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war, can render valuable aid in completing the record.

The Massachusetts list of casualties given out by Washington numbers 206 officers, but of these the club has only 189 names and wants to secure the others through relatives, if possible. Of those reported lost, it is claimed that 102 were killed in action, 35 died of wounds, 32 of disease, 26 of accident and 11 from unknown causes. Included in the Massachusetts list are the names of Captain Kittredge, Lieut. Lorne L. Cupples, Lieut. Paul T. Kearney and Lieut. Raymond Messer, all of Lowell. Information relative to officers whose record is incomplete will be gratefully received at the club headquarters, 261 Madison Avenue, New York.

The new club is to be a home for officers who occasionally visit New York and in that respect it will be quite convenient. It is desirable that similar conveniences should be provided for the privates, soldiers and sailors of the American Legion; but this will doubtless be forthcoming in due time.

The New York memorial hall will differ from the Lowell memorial auditorium in that it honors only fallen officers. The Lowell memorial will honor all alike. For the fallen heroes there will be all due homage to their memory and for those who survive, the most patriotic consideration. No distinction will be made between officers and privates as the officer who dies fighting for his country deserves no higher honor than does the humblest private in the ranks who made the supreme sacrifice. No man can give more to any cause than his life which to the private is quite as dear as to the officer of rank.

THE 20TH AMENDMENT

Many people are asking what the 20th amendment will be, and when it will be submitted to the people. The fact is, no amendment is submitted to the people and further, some amendments are adopted over the opposition of the people. If there is to be any 20th amendment, we would suggest that it should provide for such a change in the constitution as would give the people some voice in the ratification of constitutional amendments. At present the courts take no notice of a referendum on such amendments; and, as appears, neither do some of the state legislatures. It is useless to pass laws unless they are supported by public sentiment and there is only one way of ascertaining public sentiment on any issue and that is by a referendum. In a representative government, it is hardly necessary to make a referendum in such a case mandatory; the fact that a popular referendum fairly expressed stands for or against any given policy should be enough for the legislature called upon to act on that question. No such mandate, we believe, would be disobeyed by the legislators unless for the most convincing reasons.

OLYMPIAN RECORDS

America has scored some great victories at the Olympic games at Antwerp, but not one more notable than the performance of Miss Ethelda Bleibtrey, who in the swimming contest for women, reduced the world's record for 400 metres by nine seconds. It is strange that little Finland came next to the United States in the number of points, scoring 105 to our 212. Our entrants won but nine events in thirty and Finland won an equal number. It is true they won three world's records in stadium events, namely, pole vaulting, hurdles and relay racing at 400 metres and two new Olympic marks in the 56-pound weight throwing and the high jump. The American athletes were outsiders in long distance running and walking and in these they will have to develop endurance before the arrival of the next Olympian meet.

THE DUTTON STREET TRAGEDY

Judging from the circumstances connected with the Dutton street tragedy, the most probable theory of the case is, that the woman having had a talk with her husband from whom she had been separated for over a year, had decided to go back to him or to leave Lapointe with that end in view. Such a decision on her part communicated to Lapointe, her paramour, might have caused him to murder her; and having done so, fear of the penalty of the law, undoubtedly led him to commit suicide by poison before his crime was discovered. He had ample time to put away the weapon with which he murdered the woman. He might have thrown it into one of the canals in the vicinity.

Carter Glass is set down by the anti-suffragists as the Benedict Arnold of their cause. They single him out for such bitter denunciation because, as they allege, he refused to hear southern women on the question of state rights at San Francisco and hastened to congratulate republican legislatures for ratifying the amendment. They allege he will have some explaining to do to the people of Virginia; but it is to be hoped they will not cast any missiles his way.

Gov. Cox gives the lie to the denial of Chairman Hays that the republican national committee was not to accept contributions higher than $1000. The fact that many over that amount have been received, as testified before the investigating committee in Chicago would seem to bear out Governor Cox's charge.

Mayor Thompson did the right thing in calling the federal officers to stop the moonshine business. The number of seizures made, explain much of the illicit selling carried on throughout the city. The man who risks drinking such stuff must have but slight regard for his safety or else he is the slave of an overpowering appetite.

Brooklyn, N. Y., is in the throes of an outlaw rapid transit strike, which has caused millions to walk who would otherwise ride. Every such strike brings nearer the day of compulsory arbitration and continued service.

Even if Officer Mahan has not been found guilty by Mayor Thompson, he had better be careful not to leave his hat lying around where young people may come along and stuff it with greenbacks while he is not looking.

Gifford Pinchot, erstwhile progressive shouter, comes out in a declaration in favor of Senator Harding. The republicans are welcome to him so long as they can hold him. In party affiliations Gifford is about as slippery as an eel.

Gen. Wrangel's fate is again in controversy. The Bolsheviks say his forces have been annihilated, but the report, as Mark Twain would put it, is greatly exaggerated.

The milk dealers in Springfield have advanced the price of milk to 15 cents a quart. The Lowell dealers seem to be awaiting some city to lead the way to higher price levels.

Senator Calder of New York threatens to expose the manoeuvring of the coal business by profiteers. Go to it Mr. Senator, why hold back on such an unscrupulous lot? Fire away.

When called upon again to engage in a pillow fight, Mayor Thompson will probably show a preference for boxing gloves as then if he gets a sprained wrist nobody will be surprised.

If women must register, it may be necessary to have a law passed providing that there will be no questions asked relative to age by inquisitive election officials.

Again a big drop in the price of coal is predicted. Such news should be broken gently to the public.

Sugar is coming down gradually but coal has not taken the promised drop. On the contrary, the price is still going upward.

Britain bans coal exports. Why not follow Britain's example in this respect?

Even Ponzi shied at the suggestion that he dealt in Texas oil stocks.

MAX ABOUT TOWN

The fellow who has lived more years than he wants to tell about, or acknowledge, and who goes back home once in a while, looks for a great many old time customs that have disappeared and 'way down deep in his heart he wishes he had the power to revive them. Everything seems to have changed and when it comes to the dance question, it's almost enough to make a fellow weep. We tried to locate one of those old-time shindigs recently in a country where they used to prosper, but there was nothing doing. The old familiar "grab your partners" is obsolete, dead, buried and gone forever. Back in the days when the old red barn or the woodshed used to be used for a dance hall every now and then, Silas (he of the flowing brown whiskers and the heffreckled face) used to chant the merry call for partners with much gusto. Folks used to come from everywhere. There was always something to eat and drink. And a good time was had by all. Ain't it funny what a difference just a few years make? Nowadays there beunt no such a thing as the well known "All bound 'round with a woolen string," or "Leddies in the centre and gents around the outside." It may be that all of a sudden the whole world began to believe in the ragged-edge expression, "variety is the spice of life." Lookit what we have today—waltz, two-step, one-step, shimmy, Cuban waltz, fox trot. Not to mention the long lost dip, hesitation, tango and glissade, which have all come and gone since the days of the barn dance. Yes, sir, times have changed and the old days of "break 'er down in front" will never come again. We went looking for an old-time frolic and found the children of honest and respectable parents that we had known and loved for their righteousness, shimmying with all the abandon of South Sea Islanders. The 'lil ol' fox trot is fast trotting to the stable of also rans. But the waltz still stands. And we always did love the waltz. The fellow who wrote "I could waltz With You Through Life" knew what he was talking about.

Agent Richardson of the local Humane society, told me of an amusing incident recently about a little child and a cat. It seems that the agent received a telephone call from the outskirts of the city to go out to a certain house to get a sick cat. As busy as he was he left his office as soon as possible, and jumped into his trusty little "diver" animal ambulance and started over the road to get the suffering feline. After some difficulty he found the correct address and rushed up to the door with his little box to cage the cat. His call at the door was answered by a little girl. Mr. Richardson explained who he was.

"Well," said the little one, "you see, we did call for you a short time ago, but really the cat is very busy now and it can't be bothered. It was sick though, when we called you."

"Well, if it is sick I must bother it," said the agent.

"No," said the little girl, "since we called you the cat has had kittens and it cannot be taken away. It is too busy."

And so the agent had his long trip for nothing.

About five farmers are taking advantage of the public market in Anne street and they all report a fine business. They are J. L. Richardson of the Beaver Brook farm of Dracut, T. B. Willett of Draught, Mr. Berg of Chelmsford Centre, Mr. Goldthwaite of Dunstable and Mr. Edwards of this city. Messrs. Richardson and Goldthwaite also sell some of their products in Boston, but they say the greater part of the vegetables they grow are disposed of here in Lowell and at the retail public market. Those who maintain stands in Anne street say the locality is not a bad one, but in their opinion that portion of Worthen street extending from Merrimack street to Market street would be preferable and that there the number of producers doing business at the market would increase considerably. In Anne street, those with stands near the corner of Merrimack street are doing the business and that is the reason so few farmers frequent the market.

For whatever information the police department has on the Dutton street murder and suicide case great credit must be given to Lieut. David Petrie. Immediately after the discovery of foul play on last Sunday afternoon, Petrie made quick work of establishing the identity of the couple and by midnight of the same day he was in possession of practically the full story of the affair. His efforts are now given up to the solving of the mystery and finding a motive or cause for the double tragedy. Although the matter is in charge of the district attorney's office through Medical Examiner T. R. Smith, Lieut. Petrie's interest in his work is bound to lead to an early solution by the police. Lieut. Petrie is assisted in his work by Sergt. Philip Dwyer who has been connected with the Lapointe-Glebas investigation since its beginning.

The local election commissioners tell me that a bill is to be introduced at next year's session of the legislature whereby a new system of placing names of candidates on ballots will be put in force in this state. The present regulations say that the names shall be arranged alphabetically, thus giving the candidate whose name begins with A or B the advantage of having top position on the ballot, always considered good for 250 to 500 votes in Lowell alone. If the new system is adopted, the candidate who files his nomination papers first will have first place on the ballot, regardless of what letter his name begins with. The candidate who waits until the last day and hour to file his papers will find his name way down on the list, even though it begins with A. Many people have always considered the alphabetical system unfair, but to date it has been the best devised in this state. The fate of the bill providing for a new system will be followed with interest.

SEEK AND BE FOUND

There are good times ahead for the fellows with plenty of money, providing they have the health and capacity to enjoy.

If you want to take the palliate least get aboard a boat where the immigration officers operate and await your turn in line with 500 passengers to be properly identified.

For the benefit of aspiring members of the camera force we would suggest that they try to snap semi-wild three months' old calves in a five-acre field. We tried it about a week ago and stand ready to make affidavit to the difficulty of the job.

The golden, sun-kissed grain falling before the reaper in one of the sights that assisted in gladdening our hearts during the last few weeks and all of the things beautiful that we observed were crowned with a sunrise on the sea. That great ball of fire coming up out of the water and the glorious early morning colorings on the horizon make a picture no artist can paint.

Chief Provoked

If the chief of police of St. Louis can find the half-wit near-wit who had him all haired up when he phoned he'd found a tray of diamonds, he'll peel the hide off'n him. Hot day, and chief immediately pushed button calling the sleuths. "Where 'ya find it," he barked. "In a deck of cards—lee hee," chorled the wag, hanging up.

The Speed Boys

"Why, Hilen," said the artilleryman from Battery A, "our outfit used to move so fast that we were always way ahead of the infantry and they had to send runners up to find us."

"Old stuff," sneered the man from Battery B. "We moved so fast that when we got into a new position the shells we had just fired made a barrage so that our ammunition wagons couldn't get anywhere near us."—The American Legion Weekly.

Very Exclusive

A negro regiment, offered entirely by whites, had a West Point colonel who was very particular that all men should know who he was and pay him the respect due his position. Coming across a private who paid not the slightest attention to him, he swelled up with rage.

"Look here, my man," he burst forth. "Don't you know who I am?" "Norsuh," said the private cheerfully. "What? You mean to stand there and tell me you don't even know your own commanding officer when you see him?"

"Yassuh," explained the buck. "Yo see, I ain't much fer pushin' mahself forward and I ain't been runnin' 'round with the ossifers none to speak of."

Some Riches!

The world is beginning to wake up to the reckless waste practiced for a half a century and more in the production and use of its natural resources. Two-thirds of every ton of coal has gone up into the air or into the dump. Enormous volumes of natural gas have been allowed to escape to the limits of an earth atmosphere. Hundreds of millions of barrels of petroleum have flowed over the ground to utter uselessness. And so all along the line. Everywhere you hear of steps being taken to correct the wastefulness. Thus, if conservation becomes the rule hereafter with new discoveries below the surface, there will be less and less need of fear that the world will go short of coal and gasoline in the not very distant future. Canada doesn't propose to be a squeezed out orange like some sections of the United States. During the last five years coal fields and petroleum deposits have been discovered in Alberta to her northwest province, and already she is passing laws against wasteful handling of these resources. One of Canada's scientific investigators reports that "if the coal measures of Alberta can be carefully conserved and scientifically utilized, and all the gas, oil and other by-products be recovered to the best advantage, the whole world can be supplied with fuel and oil, and for a thousand years, from Alberta fields alone."

In the Good Old Days

A king of France once tore his pants upon a foeman's sword; Did his fair queen patch up his jeans? She did not. Nix, old dear, The snuffer strong, with quip and song.

Hard by an anvil stout Put in new rivets, right as trivets, And pulled the old ones out.

Ah, those were days of good, old ways, When suits "like iron" wore, When men wore clothes from head to toes.

They bought at hardware stores, When fancy vests were of the best, The very best of metal; When pants were planned of empty cans.

And hats were made from kettles. —San Francisco Bulletin.

NEW YORK—Here's the way New York health officials are preventing the invasion of foreign rats—by placing metal discs on the hausers of all transatlantic steamers. They take no chances; with bubonic plague-infected rats, which are often carried by ships from one country to another.

The smartest jewelry that is now found in New York is made of genuine ivory. It consists of pendants, bracelets and necklaces. The bracelets are simply made, without adornment and the necklaces are long strands of round, smooth beads of graduated size.

INSURANCE PROMPTLY PAID

Mr. W. D. Brown, agent of the London Assurance Corporation, says in regard to Vinal fire at Elmora where the house was burned to the ground in thirty minutes, that he asked Mr. Vinal when his policy expired in July whether on account of increased cost of building it would not be wise for him to increase his insurance. He did increase it five hundred dollars. His fire was Saturday, loss adjusted Monday for full amount of policy.

TWO KILLED, $2,000,000 LOSS, IN CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 1.—Two persons dead, a score injured, damage to the tobacco crop estimated at $2,000,000 and heavy losses to farm buildings and general shops, was the toll of a series of electrical and hail-storms that swept over many sections of Connecticut yesterday afternoon.

The storm assumed cyclonic proportions in North Haven, North Guilford, East Windsor, Suffield, Granby and other towns.

Miss Florence Linsey of Pittsfield, Mass., was drowned off the Milford shore when high waves upset a rowing boat. Raffaele Shalon, a water tender with a railroad section gang, was killed at North Haven when a group of frame houses were blown down.

A branch factory of a fireworks concern at North Haven was wrecked by the wind, a dozen young women employed being injured, one seriously.

The tobacco districts of the Connecticut River valley were hard hit. The crops in most cases were about 15 per cent. harvested, and the standing tobacco was reported as a total loss on many plantations. In East Windsor the loss was reported as very heavy.

Estimates of damage to tobacco in several towns were: East Windsor, $800,000; Suffield, $600,000; Windsor Locks, $300,000; Granby, $300,000; Ellington and Vernon, $100,000; Windsor, $50,000.

Hallstones larger than walnuts were found in the tobacco fields after the storm passed. It is said that very little insurance was carried on the tobacco. The wind also did heavy damage to fruit trees and to corn. Telephone service was impaired in several sections of the state.

Woman Blown Across Tracks

In North Haven the fury of the storm was spent in five minutes. A terrific wind with hailstones and rain created havoc in two places in that town, unroofing several houses, demolishing scores of small frame buildings, killing one boy and injuring many persons.

The force of the storm was spent over two areas about half a mile apart and along a course less than 300 feet wide. The wind struck a group of frame houses, carrying most of them across the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and piling up the fragments.

Wires were torn off the poles and for several hours it was necessary to flag trains to pass them over the tracks between Meriden and North Haven. A gang of section men at work on the tracks saw the storm coming and ran to shelter in these houses, where the water tender was killed.

The path of the storm from Hamden to North Haven was marked by fallen trees. The beginning of the wind's sweep into North Haven apparently was along State street, outside of this city, where the roof was blown off a brick house.

Half a mile beyond this point an offshoot of the storm crushed a frame building used by M. Backes & Son, fireworks makers, of Wallingford. A dozen girls were employed there. The building was lifted completely from its underpinning, carried 20 feet and piled in a mass of ruins. All the girls were bruised and one more seriously hurt.

Farther north, in Wallingford, lightning killed a horse. Wires were blown down, putting electric light and telephone circuits out of commission.

New Haven escaped the main sweep of the storm, no damage from wind or rain being reported.

In ancient times many roads radiated to all parts of the empire from a golden mile post in the forum at Rome.

may eventually give to women rights to which they are entitled but good health, which is the birthright of every American woman, must be hers before she can fully enjoy the privileges which woman's suffrage will bring.

Women who suffer from those dreadful pains, backache, headaches, irritability, nervousness and depression, symptoms of organic trouble, should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, to restore them to a normal, healthy condition as it has thousands of other American women.—Adv.

Long Telephone Conversations

Many telephone users hold the lines for an unnecessarily long period of time.

Long telephone conversations result in the delay and annoyance of repeated busy line reports, particularly in connection with party lines.

Limiting conversations to as short a time as possible, and giving up a party-line when requested to do so, will assist in maintaining good telephone service.

WOMAN DROWNED AT LYNN BEACH

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Miss Rachel Walsh, 22 years of age, of 61 Lowell street, Lawrence, a summer resident at Revere beach, was drowned yesterday afternoon at Lynn beach on the Nahant slide. Three companions, seated on the shore not 200 feet away, heard no cries from her and did not know she had perished until lifeguards at the state bath house brought the body to shore. Miss Walsh and Miss Minnie Sullivan of the same address, who was spending a few weeks at the cottage of Miss Walsh's mother at Revere, were on Revere beach, attired in their bathing suits, when they met two young men who invited them for an automobile ride.

The two youths who gave their names to the metropolitan park police as Homer Johnson and Rudolph Currier of 55 Union street, Lynn, drove the two girls as far as Lynn beach to a point just beyond the state bath house. Miss Walsh went into the surf to bathe, while the two men and Miss Sullivan, seated themselves on the sand a short distance away.

A motorist driving from Nahant to Lynn noticed a floating object in the water about 170 feet from shore. Thinking it might be a body he notified the officers at the bath house and two lifeguards, Joseph Finnerty and William Park, rowed to the spot, found the body of Miss Walsh, and brought it ashore. Drs. Leavitt and Lungee rendered first aid and used a pulmotor for more than an hour, but their efforts were futile. Medical Examiner Larling Grimes viewed the body and declared death due to accidental drowning.

Lawrence Boy Drowned

LAWRENCE, Sept. 1.—Tammy Khoury, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Khoury of 2 Bennington street, was drowned yesterday noon in the Mergimack river, where he was swimming with two companions of about the same age. Instead of giving the alarm, the boys dressed and went to the boy's house, nearly a mile away.

In the olden days of glass-staining only 13 colors were known, while more than 5000 different pigments are used now.

YOUNG MEN ADVISED TO SPECIALIZE

Great Demand for Capable Accountants

The demand for thoroughly capable office managers, cost accountants, auditors, comptrollers, assistant treasurers, and public accountants is greatly in excess of the supply.

Young men who are interested in following a business career are urged to fit themselves to enter the rapidly growing profession of accountancy. This requires a thorough training in accounting subjects, business law, business calculations, office management, economics and corporation finance. It is a mistake to mix academic and technical or professional subjects. In order to become a high-class accountant, one must specialize.

In accounting practice and procedure, the designing of accounting systems, cost accounting, auditing, advanced accounting problems, accounting for trustees and executors, office organization and administration, the preparation of income tax returns, bank credits and financial problems.

The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, 125 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass., is the largest professional school of collegiate grade in the United States that is devoted exclusively to the training of accountants. The enrollment last year was 1885. This school admits men only and trains them in two years (from September 13 to June 20) for commercial and public accounting practice. If a young man cannot afford to attend but on-year, the school assists him in obtaining a desirable accounting position in Boston, so that he can complete his training by attending evening sessions for two years. This plan is particularly favored by college men, as well as high school graduates.

This school is enthusiastically endorsed by prominent public accountants, teachers and business men as the best school in this country for those desiring to specialize in accounting. Last year the school was unable to accommodate over 200 who applied for entrance after the maximum enrollment had been reached.

Sixty-one per cent of the class that graduated in June had passed the C.P.A. (certified public accountant) examinations before graduating. This is a record never achieved by any other educational institution.

A former student, 28 years of age, was recently placed by the school at $7500 per year. Two members of the senior class were placed recently at $3500 and $4500, respectively. The school is unable to meet the demand for accountants at salaries from $2500 to $6000.

Young men should not let the lure of a small position stand in the way of sufficient technical education to fit them for bigger things for if they do they are almost certain to have the unhappy experience of seeing younger but better trained men advanced over them.

Boston is an ideal city in which to live while attending such an institution. The dean of the school arranges for room and board at reasonable rates when requested to do so.

Young men interested in accounting should write at once to H. C. Bentley, President, for a catalog.

To be Bentley-trained carries prestige in business. A diploma from this school is an assurance of one's proficiency in accounting.—Adv.

clared death due to accidental drowning.

It was the first drowning at Lynn beach in two years. The fatality probably would not have happened had the woman been bathing within the confines of the state bath house, where guards are continually on duty.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERIDIAN SQUARE THEATRE

"The World and His Wife," the celebrated production which has been attracting capacity audiences to the Meridian square theatre this week, will have its latest day's engagement this evening. Tomorrow will bring an entire change of program.

Featuring the Thursday, Friday and Saturday bill will be Dorothy Dalton in an apparently human drama of domestic life, "Guilt of Love," a photograph adapted from a successful play by Avery Hopwood.

Miss Dalton has the role of Thelma Miller, a New England girl who, left penniless goes to New York and secures a position as governess in the home of the rich Mrs. Watkins. The latter's brother, Norris Townsend, falls in love with Thelma and his father, trying to keep them apart, sends Norris abroad. Upon his return, Thelma is about to become a mother. She compels him to marry her, at the point of the revolver, then leaves him. Years afterwards Norris comes upon her, as a school teacher in a little New England town and a dramatic event finally effects a reconciliation between them.

Edward Langford is Miss Dalton's leading man in "Guilt of Love," and the supporting cast also includes Charles Lane and Augusta Anderson. Harley Knoles directed the picture. The other feature for the week-end will be Harry Carey in "A Gun Fightin' Gentleman," a red-blooded story of the west in which the popular favorite proves that he can make love as gallantly as he rides and shoots.

Also on the bill is "An Old Can Romance," the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture will complete the bill.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

In a whirlwind that is a most satisfying mixture of music, comedy and variety, at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week there stand out several acts which will tickle the appetite of any lover of the varieties. The Gypsy dancers with their well-worn numbers; Herschel Henderson in his riot of fun, "The Gypsy King," a comedy sketch; Stella Tracey and Carl McFadden, in a mixture of dancing and comedy—these are several of the acts that will make very strong appeal. However, one mustn't forget Susan Tompkins, the violinist, who was formerly with the Sousa band, or the Lorimer Hudson troupe of cyclists, whose work on the unicycles is a tremendous hit; of "Pink Stockings," admirably played by Billy Chase and Charlotte LaTour, or the dancers, Layne and Billy Dwyer. In addition to all these good acts there are the analysis of speed pictures, showing the famous "Babe" Ruth, Carl Mays, Speaker, Egan, Fipp and other noted players. It's a great bill.

OWL THEATRE

Tomorrow, the Owl theatre will open another great bill. Leading this time is "The Sackbrusher," an Emerson Hough story with as fine a story as one could wish, in seven reels. Marguerite de Lagotie leads, and Roy Stewart and Noah Beery have great parts in this story of the love of a lonely girl for a blind man. There's an unusual fight scene in it, too.

And here's good news for comedy lovers. Harold Lloyd, the chap with the goggles, is coming in one of his latest comedies, "The Eastern Westerner." It's brimful of laughs, not just chuckles, but right-out loud laughs. An episode of "The Hawk Trail" and several shorter features fill out the great bill.

THE STRAND

"The Virgin of Stamboul," starring

Priscilla Dean, is easily one of the biggest film productions presented locally in a season. Thousands saw it on Monday and Tuesday, and another turn-away crowd is expected for last performances today. Don't miss seeing it. It gives a peep into a Harlem, shows the dancing girls, and has more action than most pictures and a climax that's a real hummer. Harry T. Morey in "The Gauntlet" is another of those vigorous stories of the Tennessee mountains. Tomorrow "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals" will be the big feature.

OPERA HOUSE

"Civilian Clothes," the opening attraction by the Lowell Players at the Opera House next week, beginning with matinee on Monday, is one of the few successful after-the-war comedy dramas by Oliver Morosco, a play that had such a phenomenal run in New York City and later in Boston. It was released for stock use only recently, and Manager Schaeke is particularly fortunate in securing it for immediate production. The sale of tickets opens Thursday of this week, but regular subscribers may renew their orders earlier by mail. Only three members of last year's company have been retained for the coming season, Miss Marguerite Fields, Miss Priscilla Knowles and Jack Bennett. The new members are Milton, Byron, leading man, Miss Sarah Kyles, Max Driscoll, Florence Hill, Henry Gurvey, Fred Woodbury, Wallace Mason and Katherine Hudson.

Bitter Fights Resumed

lodged with the aid of an armored car. The shipyard workers, in their zeal to help the soldiers became a nuisance and the commanding officers asked them to withdraw. Trams caught between the opposing forces ran a gauntlet of bullets, the drivers cowering over their wheels and the passengers lying on the floor.

One man was killed in the North street encounter. There was another bitter fight at the docks between shipyard workers and union dockworkers, the dockers firing on the shipyard employees. The latter used sticks and stones and a fierce battle waged until police and soldiers with a machine gun ended the conflict. One docker was killed by the misdirected fire of his own party.

214 Serious Fires

The total number of serious fires in Belfast since Wednesday last reached 214 this morning, practically all starting in the property of nationalists.

Enforcement of the curfew ordinance last night had a quieting effect. All persons without permits were compelled to leave the streets at 10.30 o'clock and all tram cars ceased running at 9. Before midnight the streets were almost deserted, and only a few persons were around. There were several fires in various sections of town during the early evening, but no serious rioting occurred.

Troops Fire Into Crowd

Although Belfast was far from peaceful yesterday, there was nothing similar to the wild scenes of Monday. Sporadic outbreaks occurred, however, the worst being on "Old Lodge road" on the north side of the city where soldiers fired on a mob during the forenoon. Another riot took place at Castle Junction, the hub of Belfast, where nationalists began an attack in the afternoon, giving rise to a situation so serious that troops were summoned. When the disorder continued, the soldiers fired and dispersed the rioters, several casualties resulting.

Efforts are being made to have Ulster volunteers accepted as patrolmen by the police authorities, but the latter have been reluctant to assent. The volunteers' claims have been conceded at Lisburn, near here, and the civilian patrol has been doing valuable work.

Star Patrol Patrols on Duty

Star Patrol police did duty in the Falls district on Monday night, but of course without the knowledge of the authorities. They closed public houses in that part of the city during the time they were on duty. Their work was emulated though not in the same spirit by unionist youths in various parts of the city yesterday. These men continued their campaign of incense against nationalists' incensed houses.

Masked armed raiders invaded a ball room at the Ross Clark Strand hotel, County "Down," on Monday night while a fancy ball was in full swing. They compelled the dancers to raise their hands above their heads, after which the guests were searched and a number of military and naval officers were expelled. These officers were admonished that they were not permitted to mingle socially with the people as they belonged to the army of occupation. Several women were sent home on the ground that they were insufficiently clad. When the raiders withdrew no attempt was made to renew the dancing.

8000 YD Veterans March
Before General in Farewell
Review

Great Crowds Join in Tribute
—"May Bring Him Back,"
Says Coolidge.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—With battle-flags flying and following the bands that played them over many a weary hike on the other side, 8000 members of that once famous fighting outfit, the 26th Division, marched down Beacon street and across the common at sunset last evening in a farewell review to their old commander, Gen. Clarence R. Edwards.

son to look at the "old man," and there were tears in many eyes. He stood there, the trained soldier, erect, with now and then his hand snapping to the salute, but there were tears in his eyes, too.

Parents and Relatives
Around the roped off enclosure, a crowd estimated at more than 20,000 crowded, cheering the veterans and their hero leader. They consisted, in a large degree, of parents and relatives of Yankee Division men, some of boys who were left sleeping under little white crosses near the battle line. But they all love the white haired general who led the New England troops to battle. This throng paid its tribute, with bared heads, when the general made his appearance, and later cheered him to the echo.

Partisans of the different regiments applauded their appearance. The veterans assembled in their old units, and every outfit of the old division was represented, even though it was but a skeleton of its former self. Distant cities and towns throughout New England sent men to represent their comrades. The full division was present in spirit, with the backing of thousands of other men who saw service in the army, navy or marine corps, on the side lines.

After the last company marched past, and the veterans stood in massed formation, facing their departing leader, there seemed to be a spontaneous desire to be near him, and in spite of the efforts of their former officers to restrain them, the division broke, and rushed wildly toward the stand. Then the cheering began and continued until Gen. Charles H. Cole arose to speak. He asked them to open the farewell exercises with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," which was done with all the bands playing.

In speaking of Gen. Edwards, Gen. Cole said that he is a soldier and demanded obedience and discipline from every man under him. He never forgot he was a man, though, the speaker continued, and had a heart full of sympathy and love, for the boys who served under him.

Gov. Coolidge
Gov. Coolidge recounted the history of Gen. Edwards' service in the New England states, beginning with his arrival to organize the department of the northeast, three years ago. He mentioned the place the general has made in the hearts of the people of these New England states, and said there were regrets at his departure in every home.

"It was your great fortune to follow him into France and follow his leadership into battle," the governor continued. "What that leadership was is attested by allied arms and by the confidence and respect of those who served under him. You were all pleased to know that he returned to the command of the northeastern department, and hoped that he would be here until his retirement from the service. You know that his home is here, you know that his heart is here, and that those who love him are here. So it is with sad hearts that you now bid him good-bye."

May Bring Him Back
"I do not know what the future holds in store for him, but after the 4th of March there may be an opportunity to bring him back."

With the intimation that Gen. Edwards might be returned, the Y.D. men went wild with joy, and there was an other period of cheering both for Gov. Coolidge, and for Gen. Edwards. In the absence of Mayor Peters, Councilman Moriarty expressed the regrets of the people of Boston at the departure of Gen. Edwards. The arms of the people of the city are wide open for the general, he declared, asserting emphatically that official Washington would be made to realize that New England wants its own military leader in command here.

Gen. Edwards was presented a silver sword at this point by Sgt. Ben James of Brookline, formerly of the 101st Infantry. It was a gift of the rank and file of the division to their commander and in the form most acceptable to a soldier.

"Sir," the sergeant said, in presenting this token of their esteem, "you treated us while in France, and everywhere you see this sword, we, your old boys, want you to know we love and honor you."

No greater tribute could be given any soldier and Gen. Edwards was greatly affected by it. The cheering now lasted for several minutes, each time that it seemed to subside, some one would take it up again until finally Gen. Edwards raised his hand for silence.

General's Response
"Fellow Yanks, of the army, navy and marine corps," he began, speaking very slowly, and with evident effort. "Something in my voice is pretty near tears—Thank you for the marvelous testimonial for the wonderful, kindly spirit, of you boys of mine, my old boys."

"Great opportunity and honor have been mine while connected with New England. I was chosen in 1916 to organize this department of the northeast. I was then chosen and entrusted with the lives of the stout-hearted lads from this locality. With them, and in command of them, I served as long as any American general. This division was one of four pioneers, who with the 15 or 20 destroyers, held the lines until victory could be made sure by the arrival of their fellows."

"France, Belgium and England have paid tribute to this division of yours. By them we have been cited; by them we have been decorated. But our real glory, besides the conscientiousness in our own hearts that we gave our best, is the tribute, confidence and pride of the great sustaining power of our troops in battle—the people of New England."

"I returned here ahead of these soldiers in time to tell fathers and mothers and friends what these lads did in France, and then continued to command this department. You people of New England and the lads that I commanded have given me, and the best soldier of whom I have knowledge, who has followed the drum for 30 years, my wife, a benediction. Such has been your kindly treatment, your response to everything in this marvelous demonstration, that you have made us both believe that we have received the big things in life at your hands. All I can say is, your action permits me to add that I am envious of no American soldier. I am confident of justice, if you make the laws."

Cheer Mrs. Edwards
Mrs. Edwards was presented with a bouquet of flowers from the Y.D. club of Hingham. She stood by her husband during a greater part of the exercises. Three cheers were given for "The best soldier the general knows—Mrs. Edwards."

Sergeant J. S. Gately of Brookline, formerly of the 101st Infantry, was boosted to the stand by his fellows and made a plea for the return of Gen. Edwards to New England. He asked Gov. Coolidge to carry out his promise of having him returned after March 4th.

"Bring back our 'old man' with two stars on his shoulder," the sergeant asked. "This may be the last chance we will ever have of raising our voices in his defense. Let's cheer our 'old man' once again." He was then cheered with a mighty roar that showed the good will that lay back of it.

At the close of the exercises it seemed as though every Y.D. man on the field wanted to shake hands with Gen. Edwards at once. The crush was so great about the stand that several women fainted and ambulances had to be sent for. Finally the general motioned the crowd away, and signified his intention of going out into the open field, where his former soldiers could shake his hand without crowding.

For more than two hours he stood there, shaking the hands of "his boys." It was well after dark before he was able to drive away, but there were still thousands of people on the review grounds.

MANY PROMINENT MEN COME OUT FOR TANLAC

FORMER MAYOR OF BIRMINGHAM RECOMMENDS IT

Hon. Frank V. Evans Says
He Weighs More Than Ever in His Life

One of the latest additions to the large and rapidly growing list of prominent men who have publicly endorsed Tanlac for the good it has done them is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former mayor of Birmingham. Mr. Evans is one of the best known men in public life in Alabama today, being at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers, the Birmingham Age-Herald. He was also examiner of public accounts in Alabama. In telling of the benefits he had derived from Tanlac, Mr. Evans said:

"For years I suffered with gastritis and indigestion in the worst form. I was habitually constipated and had pains in my shoulders and headachings continually. My appetite left me almost entirely and everything I could eat hurt me. Finally I got to having awful attacks of acute indigestion, palpitation of the heart and smothering spells. For a long time I would have one or more of these spells every night and I would wake out of my restless sleep gasping for breath."

"I bought a bottle of Tanlac and to my surprise and gratification, I began to feel relief after the first few doses. I kept taking the medicine and now weigh more than ever before and my recovery is simply the talk of Birmingham."

Rev. A. H. Sykes is Gratiified
Over Wife's Condition

Rev. A. H. Sykes, pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., prominent not only as a minister of the gospel, but also as a man and citizen who has been true to his friends and every trust ever reposed in him, said recently:

"For the last ten months, Mrs. Sykes has been in very delicate health, suffering from bad stomach and kidney troubles, which gradually developed into a general nervous breakdown. At times her condition became alarming and I frequently sought medical advice, but nothing we could do for her seemed to bring relief."

"In fact, she suffered so long and so much that I felt it my duty to let every one know what this medicine has done for her. For several months her condition was such that she had to remain in bed, and as a last resort I decided to let her try Tanlac."

"I am a conservative man and have always been skeptical regarding the use of proprietary medicines, but this case has certainly proven an exception. I am now firmly convinced that Tanlac is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had taken only two-thirds of a bottle of this medicine when we began to notice a marked improvement in her condition. In less than a week from the time she began taking it she was able to sit up and is today able to help with the household duties. Before she began taking Tanlac she had fearful pains in her side and suffered constantly from sour stomach, and indigestion and was intensely nervous. These distressing symptoms, I am thankful to say, have entirely disappeared, her appetite has returned and she seems to relish everything she eats. She sleeps better and is gaining strength and flesh rapidly. I think it only a question of a short time until her health is fully restored."

"Tanolac has certainly proven a remarkable remedy in her case and will do all you claim for it. I cheerfully recommend it to my friends."

WELL-TO-DO FARMER
GIVES HIS TESTIMONY

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straightforward statement made by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kans.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food. Nothing agreed with me in fact. I was almost a confirmed despondent. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. This was just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat, I never suffer any bad after effects. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

COUNTY REGISTRAR THINKS
HE OUGHT TO SPEAK OUT

Hon. C. G. Lavender, registrar of Williamson County, Tennessee, and one of the most popular men in that section, said: "I feel like I owe it to suffering humanity to speak out and tell what this great medicine, Tanlac, has done for me. I was hardly ever without pain, and every three or four months I would have to take to my bed. Well, Tanlac certainly did cure my trouble, and it has ended it."

Mayors, Judges, State and County Officials, Bankers,
Lawyers, Doctors, Editors and Ministers In-
dorse It

It is seldom, indeed, that men of prominence, especially men holding high public office, willingly express their indebtedness publicly to a proprietary medicine. Many prominent men, however, including supreme court judges, mayors of our leading cities, prominent State and county officials, bankers, lawyers, doctors, editors, leading educators, government officials and even ministers of the gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell the people what Tanlac has done for them.

These well-known men of affairs have recognized in this medicine a new discovery and a scientific triumph in the medical world. It is a well-known fact that these splendid endorsements have been given Tanlac time and again, and they will continue to be given just as often as new tests of his powers are made, and it also explains why numbers of the big drug firms of the country are ordering it exclusively in carload lots.

Appearing below are a few endorsements from the large numbers that are continually being given to the public.

HIGH SHERIFFS
NOW CONVINCED

From Widely Separated
States Comes Highest
Praise for Tanlac

From four of the best known sheriffs in the South, in widely separated States, have come enthusiastic endorsements as to the merits of Tanlac.

"Tanolac has certainly helped me, and I recommend it for the good it has done in my case," said Hon. C. W. Manum, ex-sheriff of Fulton County, Georgia, who resides in Atlanta, and who has been one of the most popular officials in the state, having served three terms as sheriff.

"Tanolac seemed to be just what I needed to put my system in shape, and it has done me right up. Naturally I would recommend it to my friends, and I know of fifteen or twenty families that are taking it now on my say-so."

Hon. Charles L. Lewis, ex-sheriff of Crittendon County, a merchant and a large plantation owner of Marion, Ark., said: "I am convinced from the benefits that my wife and myself and many of our friends have received from Tanlac that it is without an equal."

"Money couldn't buy the good Tanlac has done for me, and I gladly recommend it to others for what it has done in my case," said Hon. Archie R. Anderson, ex-sheriff of Harris County, Texas, who was re-elected to this high office seven times and served the people of his county for 15 years as sheriff. Mr. Anderson was chief of police of the city of Houston, where he resided for several years, and there is not a better known man in Harris County.

"I needed a general, all-around building up for the last seven months, and Tanlac has done that very thing for me," said Hon. S. A. Kelly, sheriff of Ector County, who resides at Odessa, Texas, and who is one of the most popular officials in that section of the State.

"I have taken only two bottles but I feel like a different man already. My appetite is fine and what I eat gives me nourishment and strength. The rheumatism is much better and my liver is in good condition. I am relieved of the headaches and feel more active and energetic than I have for months."

Illinois Doctor Now Prescribes
It for His Patients

Dr. B. H. Elder, with offices at 410 Shradish Building, Peoria, Ill., who has been in active practice for over forty years, says:

"Medical science has never before produced a medicine that brings results like Tanlac. I have been prescribing it some time with remarkable results. Personally, I suffered for years from stomach trouble and rheumatism and had devoted my best thought trying to find relief, but to no avail. I had a patient who had also suffered for years with the same trouble as mine, and although I did all I could for him he got no better. One day, after he had been away for about six months, he came to my office and never in my life have I seen a man look better or seem to feel better than he did. He told me Tanlac was what had brought about the wonderful change. I began trying the medicine with the result that a few bottles relieved me entirely of stomach trouble, rheumatism and all my other ailments. I have prescribed Tanlac in cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder disorders and a run-down condition with wonderful results, and I feel I ought to give my experience with Tanlac to the public for the benefit of suffering humanity."

TANLAC TO BE SOLD
OVER ENTIRE STATE

In only a few weeks' time Tanlac will be placed on sale in practically every large city, town, village and hamlet in the State of Massachusetts. A number of agencies already have been established in a very limited time, but it is desired by the manufacturer that the distribution be made more complete and far-reaching.

Druggists and dealers who are interested should write or telegraph The Tanlac Company, Fourth National Bank Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

N. Y. BUSINESS MEN ENTHUSED OVER RESULTS

Prominent Broker, Real Estate
Man and Insurance Man
Tell Experiences

One of the most prominent brokers of Buffalo, an insurance man, a well-known real estate man of Tonawanda and other business men in the State of New York have come forward with statements telling of their remarkable experiences with Tanlac.

The first statement quoted is one made by L. L. Moore of Buffalo. Mr. Moore resides at 88 Eighteenth street, and has been in the brokerage business in Buffalo for the past thirty years. He is among that city's best known and respected citizens and when men of his type testify, it cannot be doubted that the Master Medicine is all that is claimed for it. In describing his case and failure heretofore to find relief, Mr. Moore said:

"Tanolac has benefited me even beyond my belief and I think it is time for me to talk for the benefit of others."

"For twenty years I was almost a constant sufferer from nervous indigestion, a disordered liver and sciatic rheumatism. The gas which formed from my undigested food would press on my heart with such force at times as to almost cut off my breath and the gasping for breath, together with the pains around my heart, caused me to suffer agony. The sciatic nerve in my hips and legs also gave me a great deal of trouble. At night especially, pains would attack me so suddenly and sharp as to fairly raise me off the bed and I had to walk the floor to get relief."

"I am now on my third bottle of Tanlac and I am going to continue taking it, as it is fast making me feel like a new man. Tanlac is the only medicine that has ever helped me and I gladly recommend it to anyone suffering like I did."

Eugene Tanner, well-known real estate man of Tonawanda, in his statement, said:

"My stomach was so badly out of fix I could not eat a meal without suffering hours afterwards. My food just seemed to lodge in the pit of my stomach and lie there like lead and ferment. I lost weight and was so run-down I could hardly hold out through the day."

"I saw where our best people were recommending Tanlac, so I decided to try it and I don't hesitate to recommend it, for I am now enjoying perfect health and give entire credit to the Tanlac I took."

In his statement, Joseph Urban, 14 Fillmore avenue, Buffalo, a valued employee of the Prudential Life Insurance company, said:

"When a man has had stomach trouble for a year or so bad he couldn't eat anything without suffering afterwards and then finds a medicine that fixes him up in just a few days so that everything agrees with him, I think it is time for him to talk for the benefit of others. Well, that is what Tanlac has done for me and I cannot praise it too highly. I honestly believe Tanlac is the finest medicine for stomach trouble ever sold in a drug store."

Nearly everybody in Buffalo either knows or has heard of John P. Jordan, proprietor of the John P. Jordan Moving company, 198 Orlando street. Mr. Jordan was born in Buffalo, has lived there all his life and his standing and influence are too well-known to require further comment. Mr. Jordan had suffered with stomach trouble and a general run-down condition for over a year.

"I have only been taking Tanlac for about ten days and have just finished my first bottle," said Mr. Jordan. "but am feeling so much better that I am ready right now to tell everybody about it. Tanlac is by far the best medicine I have ever run across and I am glad to recommend it, for it has certainly proved to be the right thing for me and I cannot praise it too highly."

PRESIDENT OF COTTON OIL MILL PRAISES IT

Mr. C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Home Cotton Oil company of Lawrenceville, Ga., and one of the big business men of Atlanta, said:

"I suffered for seven or eight years."

"Not until I began taking Tanlac have I been able to notice the slightest improvement in my condition. I am greatly improved and Tanlac is unquestionably the best thing of the kind I ever tried."

Among the prominent manufacturers and business men who have endorsed Tanlac are John P. Carroll, cotton mill superintendent and leading citizen of Chattahoochee and Atlanta; N. M. Yancy, manager of contract department, Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph company.

LEGISLATOR'S WIFE IS RESTORED BY TANLAC

Mrs. S. S. Jackson, 321 Bonard street, Savannah, Ga., wife of Hon. Sam M. Jackson, the well-known legislator from Chatham County and one of the leading men of the State, said:

"I was a great sufferer from sciatic indigestion, insomnia and nervousness."

"My stomach would swell up with gas at times until my heart seemed to poison me. The first bottle of Tanlac seemed to relieve me, and I am feeling better. It certainly was a fortunate thing for me that I found about Tanlac."

GRAND JURY TAKES UP RICH-QUICK SCHEMES

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Investigation of the get-rich-quick schemes in which millions of dollars of New England investors are now tied up with prospects of only scanty return, was begun by the Suffolk county grand jury today. The jurors were called in special session by District Attorney Pollett, at the request of Attorney General Allen who has been engaged in marshaling the complaints against Charles Ponzi and his Securities Exchange company, and against the Old Colony Foreign Exchange company which operated in a somewhat similar manner.

The witnesses summoned to appear today were all connected with or believed to have information concerning the Old Colony Foreign Exchange company. Among them were Charles M. Brightwell and others who promoted the enterprise, according to a statement by Charles Ludden, an attorney, at a receiver's hearing yesterday, in order to get some of the easy money that was going to Ponzi. The Ponzi operations probably will not be placed before the jurors for several days, the district attorney said.

THREE MORE STRIKES IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Three strikes, involving at least 20,000 men, today were added to New York's list of labor disputes.

Fifteen thousand painters, decorators and paperhangers have voted to quit work tomorrow to enforce their demands for $10 a day for an eight-hour day, and a five day week.

Three thousand moving van drivers, helpers and packers, on the verge of shifting homes for 100,000 families this fall, began their walkout today, demanding an increase of $5 a week and an eight hour day.

Two thousand plumbers were expected to lay aside their tools today having demanded $9 a day minimum pay, 10 holidays a year and the curtailment of overtime to urgent necessity.

"Resignations" of some engineers, firemen and mechanics of the city's federal buildings also went into effect today.

ADVANCE OF POLISH FORCES CONTINUES

WARSAW, Aug. 31.—Polish forces advancing toward Grodno have nearly reached the banks of the Neimen river, which flows past Grodno toward the north, according to reports from the northeastern front.

The great part of eastern Galicia has been recovered by Polish and Ukrainian troops, who are masters of all the left bank of the Dniester river. Pursuit of the Bolshevik forces which appear along the upper reaches of the Bug river near Sokol continues. In the region of Przemyśl, 25 miles southwest of Lemberg, the Poles have scattered soviet forces that attempted to start an offensive operation.

Gen. Pawlenko's Ukrainian columns which crossed the Dniester south of the city of Buczacz have developed their offensive successfully, obliging the Bolshevik west of the Serch river to retreat in order to avoid being surrounded.

Report Poles Repulsed
LONDON, Sept. 1.—The repulse of Polish attacks all along the line is reported in the Russian soviet official statement of Tuesday, received here today by wireless.

PICNIC TODAY FOR PLAYGROUND GIRLS

A picnic for the little girls of the North common playground section was held this afternoon in Pearson's grove in Chelmsford under the auspices of the Girls' Community club and the playground teachers. The girls, numbering about 200, were carried to the grounds in three trucks which left the common about 1:30 o'clock. Miss Natalie McQuade, playground teacher, and Miss Bawla Lawler, director of activities at the girls' club, were in direct charge of arrangements and were assisted by playground teachers and by Alice Coyne, Rose O'Brien, Helen

WHITE BELIEVES
COX CHARGE TRUEHas No Evidence But Has Confidence in Nominee, He Tells CommitteeDeclares Cox Told Him That He Was Sure of His
Ground

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, said on the stand today before the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures that he had no evidence to sustain any one of the charges made by Governor Cox, his party's presidential nominee as to campaign funds and quotas, or the alleged desire of contributors "to have back of them in industrial centers the bayonets of their puppets in office."

He told Chairman Kenyon that he believed the charges were true because he had confidence in Governor Cox, but he had not discussed them in detail with the nominee and brought nothing from him to aid the committee in sifting them.

"I talked with Governor Cox last Sunday for a few minutes," said Mr. White. "I asked him: 'Are you sure of your ground?' He said he was and I told him: 'You are the boss and you run it.'"

Senator Kenyon asked if Mr. White did not consider it "evidence" if it exists, to give it to us, whether they are presidential candidates or not, and when the witness did not reply the chairman said he realized the query might be embarrassing and he would not press it out of respect to Mr. White's relations with Governor Cox.

Senator Kenyon read to the witness telegrams from Governor Cox to the committee and to Senator Reed, a member dated Aug. 24, and 23, and promising to furnish the investigators with information. The latter message told the Missouri senator that the candidate would "get some matters into your hands soon."

Mr. White said he had brought nothing for Senator Reed. The latter explained he had informed the candidate the committee would welcome any information.

Pressed by his questioners, Mr. White said he was willing to abide by the judgment of Governor Cox as to when the material should be furnished to the committee.

"Is it the idea then that we are to sit here and wait until Governor Cox is ready to come to us?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"I did not say that," replied Mr. White.

"But you have a speaking trip arranged for Governor Cox next week and you would not wish us to interfere with that," argued Senator Kenyon. "In fact, we have no desire to interfere with it."

"The committee has jurisdiction over its own affairs," said Mr. White.

Peter Bourgeois, aged 18 years, of 8 Jackson street, Nashua, N. H.; Thomas Lynch, aged 20, a laborer of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and John F. L. Goss, aged 21, a carpenter of 35 Knickerbocker avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. were represented by counsel this morning when their case, charging the theft of a Cadillac limousine valued at $7000 from the rear of the Runnels buildings about 8:30 o'clock on the evening of August 23, was called on for continuance in police court. All three confirmed their former pleas of guilty and through counsel waived a hearing. Judge Frederick A. Fisher then found probable cause for a finding of guilty and ordered the defendants to be held under $10,000 each for trial in superior court.

Howard E. Newell, aged 23, a chauffeur of 123 Shaw street this city who was arrested in connection with the theft and entered a plea of not guilty when the case was first called and was ordered under $10,000 bonds for trial today, was discharged.

The case involves the theft of a limousine, owned by Elizabeth Deery of Salem, which was parked in Canal street on the evening of August 23 while the owner and friends were out.

20,000 COAL MINERS
TAKE "VACATIONS"

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 1.—Anthracite coal miners began taking "vacations" in this district today. More than 20,000 were out early in the day, and it was predicted 10,000 more would join the walkout.

Met to Consider Award

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 1.—The full scale committee of the United Mine Workers of the three anthracite districts met here today to consider the award of the coal commission approved by President Wilson. Leaders said they believed the award would be accepted.

Oppose Leadership

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 1.—Miners opposed to the present leadership of the United Mine Workers met here today to decide how to show disapproval of the recent award of the coal commission.

Leaders of the "insurgents" declared that men in all sections were ready to quit work if it was decided to strike.

PLAN BIG LABOR

DAY CELEBRATION

Lowell's Labor day celebration next Monday will be one of the most elaborate held in many years, according to tentative plans which will assume more definite form after a meeting of the committee in charge of the observance tomorrow evening.

The present program calls for a street parade in the early afternoon, a baseball game later in the day and a mass meeting with prominent speakers on the South common in the evening. Members of the city government will review the parade at city hall and will also attend the meeting in the evening where Mayor Perry D. Thompson will be one of the speakers. The observance will be under the general auspices of the Trades & Labor council. The number of unions which will have representatives in the parade will not be known until after Thursday evening's meeting.

Continue Their StrikeAgents of Line Declare Places of Strikers Will Be Filled Tomorrow

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The longshoremen who quit work on the Leyland liner Nilonian yesterday as a protest against England's attitude toward Ireland, continued their strike today, notwithstanding officials of their union said their action was unauthorized and illegal. These 60 men voted to work on no ship flying the British flag.

A hundred other longshoremen who left the ships on which they were working yesterday when women picketers urged the protest went back, one of the vessels being under Norwegian registry.

The women, carrying placards which said: "Boycott all British ships until McSwiney and Mannix are free," returned to their picketing activities on the East Boston docks and sought to pull out the longshore crews of other vessels.

Thirty-five of the 100 men working on the British freighter Anglo-Mexican did not return to work after noon, and 25 or the crew of 110 handling the cargo of the Leyland liner Caledonian joined the others. The 60 original strikers were declared to have lost their jobs, the agents of the line announcing that their places would be filled tomorrow morning.

Return at New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Work of loading and discharging British steamships approached normal today with the return to work of most of the men who last Friday went on strike in sympathy with the cause of Irish freedom. The Cunard line announced that it had all the men required to handle its ships. The White Star line still felt effects of the walkout, all but one of its vessels remaining idle, but it expected to increase its force of longshoremen to normal before night.

Only a few hundred of the 4000 longshoremen who walked out last Friday are now away from the pier, according to Joseph W. Ryan, vice president of the International Longshoremen's association.

FIREHOUSE AUCTIONED

Undertaker George Healey
Buys Westford Street Firehouse for $17,000

The Westford street firehouse, located at the corner of Westford and Jane streets, was sold at public auction this afternoon and was purchased by Undertaker George Healey who bid $17,000. Mr. Healey announced that he would use the lower floor for a morgue and make the upper floor into tenements. Simon B. Harris was the bidder other than Mr. Healey and the sale lasted only a few minutes.

The building was closed as a firehouse several months ago and its apparatus transferred to the Branch street house. The closing of the Westford street house is a part of a program of readjustment being carried out by Commissioner Salmon which will embrace the erection of a bungalow type of engine house at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets, the elimination of the Warren street house and the erection of another bungalow type of station in the Oaklands. Proceeds of today's sale will be devoted to the erection of the new house in the highlands.

The Westford street house is a two-story brick building of mill construction. Its lower floor has been used for ladder trucks and chemicals and contains stalls for horses. The second floor is divided into a large dormitory, locker room, toilet and hay loft. In the basement is a boiler for heating purposes. The lot on which the building is situated contains 4516 square feet of land.

Company's Local Plants

It is believed that the three local plants of the American Woolen Co., which suspended operations about ten weeks ago, will reopen Sept. 13, the date set today by the officials of the company for the re-opening of its plants.

There are three plants of the American Woolen Co. in this city, the Wamsit mills, the Bay State Woolen mills, and the Rams Head yarn mills, these three plants employing about 650 hands. The agents of the Wamsit and Bay State mills could not be reached, but the agent of the Rams Head mills, when informed of the announcement this afternoon stated that although he had not received any official notice from headquarters, he believed the order would affect the Lowell plants. The Beaver Brook mill in Dracut, another plant of the American Woolen Co., did not shut down with the other plants.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The American Woolen Co., whose mills have been shut down, will start the preparatory departments on Sept. 13 and other departments thereafter as soon as possible, according to an announcement by William M. Wood, president of the company today.

President Wood's statement added: "The wage scale will be the same as when the mills were forced to shut down in July."

The American Woolen Co. has 54 mills in New England and New York and employs upwards of 30,000 operatives, about half of whom are in the mills at Lawrence.

Company's Local Plants

It is believed that the three local plants of the American Woolen Co., which suspended operations about ten weeks ago, will reopen Sept. 13, the date set today by the officials of the company for the re-opening of its plants.

There are three plants of the American Woolen Co. in this city, the Wamsit mills, the Bay State Woolen mills, and the Rams Head yarn mills, these three plants employing about 650 hands. The agents of the Wamsit and Bay State mills could not be reached, but the agent of the Rams Head mills, when informed of the announcement this afternoon stated that although he had not received any official notice from headquarters, he believed the order would affect the Lowell plants. The Beaver Brook mill in Dracut, another plant of the American Woolen Co., did not shut down with the other plants.

"If the school department authorities of the city of Lowell are to persist in their policy of sending out of town for people to instruct our children, as evidenced by their selection last evening of John G. Wolcott, a teacher in the Cambridge high school, as a grammar school master for the local department, there is no use of parents of Lowell boys and girls giving their children education designed to fit them to become teachers. The State Normal school might as well be taken from the city," said Chairman Thomas B. Delaney of the school committee today in commenting upon the action of three members of the committee at its meeting last evening.

Mr. Delaney maintains that there is plenty of available material in Lowell from which to choose grammar school

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(By Associated Press) Poland has answered the admonition of the United States that the Polish armies halt at the ethnographic frontier of Poland with the statement that strategic considerations must govern Poland's course.

QUITS CASTING STONES AT MAGDALENES

MISS BLANCHE MORSE, WHO WILL MANAGE CALIFORNIA'S NEW FARM FOR DELINQUENT WOMEN.

N.E.A. Staff Special
BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 1.—"There, but for the grace of God, go I," said John Wesley, pointing to a down-and-out of his day, and this is the spirit that dominates Miss Blanche Morse, as she takes hold of California's newest and America's biggest social venture, of its kind—the State Industrial Home for Women.

For years California used to treat its Magdalenes like lepers. It would either draw its skirts aside and ignore them, or it would arrest them as "vagrants," keep them in jail, or fatten the cities' coffers with their earnings in fines.

Then came suffrage, followed by a golden age of political reform, and the red light abatement act. Miss Morse was part of it all, and worked harder than all the rest for the abatement law, believing that it would stamp out the fenderloin evils by punishing the "higher ups."

But it didn't. Resorts were raided and sometimes men were arrested, but as usual the women paid most heavily. Instead of being confined in the old "segregated districts," now the women were made hunted creatures and were forced to search out easy-going hotels or ply their trade in connivance with crooked police.

A year ago the good women of the state, with the United States government helping them in its post-war vice clean-up, determined to do something for, instead of against, the hunted sisterhood. Over scolding protests the legislature appropriated $150,000 for a home where delinquent women could be confined in place of being punished, regenerated, physically, mentally and morally.

"We're going to have the finest farm in California," said Miss Morse, who has given up a good position in the schools here to make this her life work.

"Rest, treatment, recreation of all sorts, and most important of all, work—good out-door, sunshiny work—will be the 'cure,' and as soon as they are able the girls will be taught some useful vocation that will give them a chance when they are released."

The new women's farm is to be located on 200 acres of beautiful rolling foot-hill land near Sonoma in the country famed for its scenic beauty and sung by Jack London in his "Valley of the Moon." The big house will hold 50 women to begin with, who will be "sentenced" to indefinite terms by judges from all over the state.

THIS MAN FINDS SWEAT HIS FOUNT OF YOUTH

Henry Wyburn

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 1.—Ponce de Leon in vain sought the fount of youth in the sylvan glades of Florida, but Henry Wyburn, 86-year-old maker of auto tops, found the springs of youth in himself.

"My fount of youth is sweat," he says. "I keep it flowing every day. Rest means rust. I'll keep my fount of sweat running for 100 years anyway. Try it! It'll keep you young."

Lowell Boys Are Athletic

boys merely because they attended the playgrounds regularly, but only after they have passed tests requiring athletic skill. This competition has been known as the athletic badge contest and was introduced into the playgrounds curriculum this season at the behest of the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

This organization has mapped out certain tests of skill which boys must pass before being entitled to the medals. The tests are divided into three classes, the first for boys 12 years of age or under, the second for boys between 12 and 13, and the third for boys of high school age. In the first class the contestant must "chin" himself, that is pull up his own weight on a bar, at least four times, must be able to jump two feet, five inches in a standing broad jump, and must run 50 yards in 5-3-5 seconds.

The second test for older boys calls for "chinning" six times, a standing broad jump of six feet, six inches and a 60-yard dash in eight seconds.

The third test for boys of high school age provides that the contestant must chin himself nine times jump four feet, four inches, in a running high jump and run 220 yards in 28 seconds.

These stipulations have been tried out in public schools in various parts of the country and have been found to be fair standards of a boy's athletic skill. Boys on all the local playgrounds have entered the competition for medals this summer and 220 have shown themselves capable of meeting the test requirements of their age.

They will be presented the medals tomorrow afternoon. The medals are designed by the Playground & Recreation association but are paid for by the park department. No medal is awarded unless the playground supervisor certifies in writing that the applicant has met the required tests.

A saving of $5,000,000 of stock on the farms of the country was made last year by the killing of 32,000 wild animals.

BRIDE'S MOTHER USES HORSEWHIP ON GROOM

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Harry R. Daniel, secretary of the W. Straus & Co., New York, today was on a honeymoon trip to Decatur, Ind., bearing on his face and shoulders the marks of a horsewhipping bestowed by the bride's mother yesterday in the crowded union station here. Mrs. Charles M. Cooper of Indianapolis, mother of the bride, met the Minneapolis train on which her daughter arrived simultaneously with the appearance of Daniel.

When Miss Cooper ran to Daniel with an affectionate greeting, Mrs. Cooper drew a black snake whip from under her coat and began slashing Daniel. Detective Sergeant Terence Kelly, whom Mrs. Cooper had brought along to break up an expected elopement, also got in the path of stray lashes.

In spite of parental objections, Daniel and Miss Cooper secured a license and were married when police refused to interfere on learning that Miss Cooper would be 20 years of age next Sunday. Daniel gave his age as 16.

Daniel said he had brought his sister, Mrs. C. C. Shafer of Decatur to Chicago and had planned merely a brief visit to his fiancée, but "the marriage was really precipitated by Mrs. Cooper's action."

The bride's father, Charles M. Cooper, is an Indianapolis manufacturer.

Among recent building permits issued at the office of the building inspector at city hall have been the following: Najef Hayeck, brick and cement garage, 345-52 Broadway, estimated cost, $12,000; Harry Grenon, estimated cost, $10,000; Omer and Mary Plouffe, dwelling, 99 Corey street, $1800.

AUTOIST HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Anastasios Anastasio of 91 Jefferson street had a narrow escape from serious injury in an automobile accident, which occurred in Merrimack street late yesterday afternoon.

It seems that Anastasio was behind a repair truck of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Ry. Co. upon which was a ladder extending beyond the tail out his hand as a signal that he was brought to a stop near the corner of Shattuck street, and the operator put on his hand as a signal that he was going to stop. It appears, however, that the signal was not seen by Anastasio, who drove his car into the truck. The extension ladder went through his wind shield and through the top, tearing the latter into pieces. Fortunately for Anastasio, when the collision occurred he dropped to the bottom of his car, for otherwise, according to witnesses of the accident, he would have had the top of his head taken off. The other machine was not damaged.

The island of Marken, in Holland was once entirely submerged, but has risen from the water and is now a thrifty settlement of fishermen.

Strike

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Further military measures were expected in West Virginia coal fields today as a result of two skirmishes between United States infantrymen and mobs during which more than 1000 rounds of ammunition were fired and machine guns were used by the soldiers yesterday.

A mob of 200 men formed on both sides of the mountain above Chaffaboy and began to march toward the homes of the officials of the Howard colliery C. This band was challenged by a corporal's guard of infantrymen and put to flight. A number of shots were exchanged.

A larger force attempted an armed attack on the Thacker Coal

& Coke Co. Soldiers swept the surrounding woods with machine fire and routed the invaders. Threats were made by striking miners in this field to extend the strike to Kentucky.

The production of quicksilver in the United States in 1919 was 21,344 masks, a decrease of 13,535 masks as compared with 1918.

Grass Cloth Effects

Very satisfactory decorative effects may be secured by using a wall paper in grass cloth effects. These are copies of Japanese grass cloth which are selling at from four to ten dollars a roll. The imitations are very good and are reasonably priced. They come in all colors and are generally used with a cut-out border to set them off.

The first imitations of grass cloth came in what are called cross grasses—that is with the pattern running across the strip. These have the same faults as is seen in the true grass cloth—namely that the seams are very apt to show, there being no exact match to these patterns. Later, however, we have been getting a lot of what are called up and down patterns in which the pattern runs lengthwise of the strip. These hang much better than the cross grass cloth because the pattern helps to hide the seam.

In our department we show mounted on display a great many grass cloth patterns. These give one a very good idea of just how a pattern will look when hung. All patterns are shown with their match borders and are sold with or without borders.

One of a series of helpful hints to those in need of Wall Paper.

WADE ADMITS MURDER OF NOTT

Breaks Down After Hours on Grill and Confesses to Crime

Declares He and Victim
Tumbled Down Stairs
During Struggle

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 1.—After being grilled for hours by Coroner John J. Phelan, Superintendent of Police Patrick Flanagan and other officers, Elwood B. Wade, 23, of 110 Hillside avenue, broke down last night and confessed, according to the police to the murder of George E. Nott, of 265 Jackson avenue, whose body was found in a trunk in a quicksand swamp at Easton.

According to the statement made to the police last night by Wade, he went to the Nott home Sunday morning armed with a piece of lead pipe and a pistol with the intention of pummeling Nott in retaliation for a threat the murdered man made to "get Wade." Johnson accompanied Wade to the scene of the murder and both young men conversed with Mrs. Nott for over an hour while the intended victim slept in a room in the attic of the house.

Wade finally decided to go to Nott's room and was accompanied up the stairs by Johnson. The furniture of the room was so situated that the bed occupied by Nott faced a mirror which was on a direct line with the open door. "As I approached the door Nott saw me in the mirror, and I obtained a glimpse of him in a like manner," Wade declares. "He said: 'You get out of here,' and with that he sprang from the bed and we grappled. Johnson and Mrs. Nott fled to the lower part of the house."

Fell Down Two Flights

The youth declared they fought on the landing of the third floor and finally tumbled to the second story where another stand was made.

The actual murder, according to Wade, was committed on the first floor of the house after they had tumbled down another flight of stairs, during which time Wade had fired four shots from his pistol. Near the entrance to the house, Wade declares, he stabbed Nott several times. Nineteen knife wounds were found in the body. Neither the accused or the police can account for the manner in which Wade obtained the knife.

After Nott had breathed his last, the body was put in the trunk, where it remained until late Sunday night.

Wade in confession does not absolve Mrs. Nott. Neither does he accuse her of taking part in the crime.

The grilling took place in the room in which the crime was committed.

W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

Dear Sir:—For six years I suffered with rheumatism. My knees were so stiff I could scarcely walk, and in going up stairs I had to pull myself up by taking hold of the rail. I suffered constant pain. Physicians said I had muscular neuralgia, and I took many remedies without relief. At times I was unable to turn in bed. My stomach was so bad that I could scarcely retain food. I took Var-ne-sis and found it of great value for my stomach as well as for my rheumatism, and I am now free from rheumatism and can eat anything with no ill effects. Var-ne-sis is a wonderful medicine and I can recommend it to all suffering as I did."

Mrs. MARGARET MAHONEY,
522 Fifth Ave., North Troy, N.Y.

Var-ne-sis is a vegetable remedy that has been remarkably successful in chronic cases of rheumatism, particularly those cases that have been treated with ordinary remedies month after month without result. Send for Booklet "The Best of Human Aid" It's Free. Address W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

VAR-NE-SIS RUB-ON EASES PAIN

Wade, who had been ordered by Nott to cease his attentions to Mrs. Nott maintained for a long time an attitude of defiance, insisting that Mrs. Nott killed her husband. Mrs. Nott is at Bridgeport hospital under guard, suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Wade and his fellow milk pedler, John B. Johnson, 20, of 4 Beardslee lane, as well as Mrs. Nott are held without bonds for the murder of Nott.

Find Weapons in Barrel

A revolver, hatchet and piece of lead pipe alleged to have been used as weapons in the murder of Nott, were found in a barrel at the Nott home yesterday afternoon. A bloody bed pillow was also found in the barrel.

Nott's head was battered in, apparently with the piece of pipe which was found yesterday, there were 18 stab wounds on his body and several bullet wounds. An effort had apparently been made to cut off the man's head by hacking at the base of the skull with the hatchet. The murder was committed about 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mrs. Nott and Wade used lace curtains, towels and clothing to remove all traces of the crime.

The shots had been heard by neighbors and one of the neighbors notified Daniel Ferguson of 23 Horace street, a friend of the dead man. When Ferguson visited the Nott home Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Mrs. Nott came to the front door. "Mrs. Nott," said Ferguson, "one of the neighbors has told me there were shots fired in your home this morning. I believe something has happened to my friend, George. I want your house searched. You can take your choice of letting me look over the premises or having me call in the police."

"Come right in," said Mrs. Nott, "nothing is amiss here."

Passed Trunk With Body

Ferguson entered the Nott apartment on the second floor of 365 Judson av. and made a search. He saw Mrs. Nott's trunk standing on the floor, but thought nothing of it. Had he looked inside the trunk he would have found the body of his friend.

Ferguson passed a clothes closet without bothering to look inside. Had he looked he would have discovered young Wade, crouched in the back of the closet behind some old clothes. This was revealed to the police yesterday.

While Nott's body was in the trunk through the long Sunday afternoon the player piano in the Nott home was constantly playing. Jazz tunes followed operatic selections and popular ballads. Instead of disarming the suspicion of neighbors, continual playing only served to convince them that something was wrong. Never before had the player piano been used in the Nott home so continuously on a Sunday afternoon.

The trunk containing the body was carried away on Wade's truck at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Monday night Johnson on being told that the facts of the murder were known, broke down and told of how the trunk had been disposed of.

Wade, while denying that he killed Nott, agreed to take the police to the spot in the Easton swamp where the trunk containing Nott's body had been dumped.

Mrs. Hutchinson, mother of the dead man's wife, who lives in Chelsea, was notified Monday of the arrest of her daughter on the charge of murder and is making haste to the side of her daughter. Mrs. Nott's two children are being cared for by friends.

WORST TORNADO IN MANY YEARS

Path Cut 600 Feet Wide in Five Old Colony Towns—
Heavy Damage

Buildings Cut in Two—25
Razed at Weymouth—
Much Live Stock Killed

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—A general clean up of the wreckage left in the wake of the tornado that late yesterday swept through parts of the towns of Weymouth, Hingham, Holbrook, Randolph and Braintree, was in progress in those places today. No one was seriously injured but damage estimated at thousands of dollars was caused by the destruction of dwellings, farm buildings and crops, and the killing of much live stock.

The tornado was the worst that has struck Massachusetts in years and it left a streak of ruin from 400 to 600 feet wide where the wind had passed. Twisted buildings and others cut in half as though a huge knife had severed them, flattened fields where ripening crops had stood, dead livestock and fallen trees and wire communication equipment made up the scene today.

The greatest damage was done at Weymouth where 25 buildings were destroyed with estimated loss of $150,000. Among the sights there was the veranda from the home of John M. Ronan, lodged in a great pine tree, 200 yards from the house. A picture that had been nailed to the wall in a room of the parish house of the Church of St. Francis Xavier, was found nailed to the floor as though it had been fastened there with a hammer.

Great Trees Uprooted

Pleasant street, the main thoroughfare in South Weymouth was still littered with debris today. Great trees along the roadside which had been uprooted by the storm and thrown across the street had to be sawed to make the road passable.

Near the Weymouth Fair grounds what yesterday was a grove of state-planted trees today had the appearance of a lot of giant toothpicks stuck in the ground, many of the trees having been stripped of limbs and foliage and others snapped off by the wind.

Larceny of Limousine

Continued
Having supper in Page's restaurant, Lieut. Petrie, Lieut. Maher and Sergt. Dwyer of the local police and Inspector LeHane of Salem later recovered the stolen property in the garage on School street owned by Leo Hind of 658 School street.

The ground of Newell's plea of not guilty was that he was not connected with the stealing of the auto and that he did not know anything about the plans of the other three defendants. In court this morning, Leo Hind testified that on the evening of August 23 Newell drove the other men to his house and requested that he rent his garage to them for storage of a limousine. Hind declared that Lynch, Bourgas and Goetz said they wanted it to store a limousine for four months while they made repairs upon it. After arrangements were made Newell then drove the three men off in his machine.

About 12 o'clock that same night, according to Hind, Lynch, Goetz and Bourgas woke him up and asked for the key to the garage. They then drove the Deery limousine into the garage and went off. Hind then became suspicious, searched through the machine and found the license registration of the Salem owner and early next morning drove to Salem and notified the police. On the evening of the same day Lynch, Goetz and Bourgas were arrested. Newell was also booked as being implicated in the theft.

Judge Fisher made his finding of no probable cause for guilt in the Newell case on the fact that the government failed to show that Newell aided in the theft or knew anything about the plans of the other three defendants. According to the court Newell made arrangements with Hind for the hiring of the garage by Lynch

Goetz and Bourgas without knowledge that he was to hide a stolen machine.

Reckless Driving
Frank S. Howard, driver of a truck, was found guilty of driving in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and was continued until Sept. 4 for sentence. Motorcycle Officer Hamilton testified that on the afternoon of Aug. 25 Howard drove along Mammoth road at the rate of 35 miles per hour without giving any signal at the intersection of streets. He said that where he stopped Howard was in a very thickly populated section.

Bortland E. Tremblay was found guilty of a similar charge and was ordered to pay a fine of $20. Sergt. Maguire and Motorcycle Officer Kivian figured in this arrest and stated that the defendant drove his machine at the rate of 40 miles per hour.

Ordinances Violated
Amos P. Best, president of a local taxi corporation was fined $20 on two counts of violating the city parking ordinances in Paige street. Patrolmen Managan and Kenny who made the complaints, testified that on four counts Mr. Best violated the ordinance.

Two charges were dismissed because of insufficient evidence. Through counsel, Mr. Best appealed the decision.

Mr. Henry Shawl, an employee of Mr. Best was also charged with violating the parking laws for Paige street and was fined $20. An appeal was entered. Mr. Best went surety for himself and Mr. Shawl.

Other Offenders
Patrick McMahon pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was ordered to the state farm at Bridgewater. The defendant entered an appeal.

Frank A. Rogers, charged with drunkenness, at first entered a plea of not guilty but when his case was put over until September 3 for trial because of the lack of witnesses for the government, he changed the plea to guilty. He was then ordered to the house of correction for two months.

John Salukis, charged with assault and battery upon Peter Dudutis was put over for trial on September 8.

Margaret Pinfold charged with lewd behavior and William Pinfold, charged with violation of the Mann act, pleaded guilty and were both held under $500 bonds for trial on September 8. Both are residents of Providence, R. I., but have been living in Gorham street.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE BUMBLE-BEE BLANKETS

Mr. Bumble-Bee chuckled to himself when Tingling, the fairy landlord, and the twins began to search for the lost Green Shoes in his sticky dining room. I wonder if it was altogether an accident that he had upset several honey-pots as he passed through, for Mrs. Bumble kept her honey stored up in the nearest little round jars you ever saw.

It was so dim that the children and the fairy were covered with honey.

Come right along, if you wish.

Tingling was afraid to lose sight of his wary tenant, so away they started again, filing out of the dining room in search of Mr. Bumble-Bee's bedroom. And the bumping and stumbling started all over again, for the further they went, the darker the place got and they couldn't see an inch in front of their noses. The worst of it was that whatever they touched now stuck to them tight, for honey is like ex-

quite up to their chins before they found their Green Shoes and slipped them on again. Even so, they didn't forget the errand they had come upon, and Nick had the big pocket-book all ready to put Mr. Bumble's rent into when he paid Tingling.

"Now, Bumble," called the fairyman, "Got your rent all ready for us? It's the thirty-second day of the month."

"I'm getting it," called Mr. Bee from a distance. "I'm back in the bedroom."

SISTER MARY'S OWN RECIPES

(Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

The variety of peaches known as clingstones are usually avoided by the housekeeper when she can account of the difficulty of stoning them.

But there is a way to remove the stones that makes it possible to use these peaches and as the clingstones are often the finest flavored and firmest peach it is well worth while learning them.

Before peeling out with a sharp knife around the peach following the seam on the fruit. Then quickly twist one-half off the other. With a sharp-pointed knife cut the stone from the half that holds it.

The fruit must not be over-ripe for the flesh will crush and the skin slip in the twisting.

TO PREVENT COARSE SKIN AND SUNBURN

The best way to preserve a clear complexion of delicate texture and tint is to protect it when going mo-

COX ENDORSED BY LABOR

Some months ago the American Federation of Labor decided to enter politics, not as the ally of any political organization, but to support the candidates irrespective of party who are fairest to labor. In pursuance of that policy the American Federation of Labor, after a careful scrutiny of the official record of the two presidential nominees, has come out squarely in support of Governor Cox. To reach a decision on this question, a committee consisting of President Gompers, Vice President Mathew Woll and Secretary Frank Morrison, examined the record of both candidates on legislative matters and general policies of administration and giving out their finding they say:

"There can be but one conclusion based upon a careful and impartial survey of the actions of the candidates. Gov. Cox has shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of the needs of the working people, a readier response to their needs and their proposals and a broader statesmanship in his public discussions of the problems of the industrial world."

Moreover, Gov. Cox is credited with more clarity and candor in taking a positive stand on public questions than can be attributed to Senator Harding. To clinch its argument and fortify its position against attack, the committee adds:

"Moreover, and as an argument that admits of no qualifying denial, there is Gov. Cox's record as governor of Ohio, during which he acted upon fifty-nine measures of interest to labor without acting on a single one adversely to labor. This is a record of fidelity to humanity, of understanding of the needs of the great masses of the people, that has few equals in American political life."

There is just one question on which the republicans are quite clear and emphatic. That is the Mexican problem. On this they are actually jingoistic, a fact that was made still more apparent by the speech of Governor Coolidge at last Saturday's meeting at Boston. The American A. F. of L. officials do not like a warlike policy toward Mexico; and this is another reason why they favor the democratic candidate as against the republican.

With vehemence of course, the republicans repudiate the alleged disclosures of their campaign methods by Governor Cox, but his quotations from a republican official document, are not thus explained away.

SEIZING SAGHALIN

The United States some weeks ago sought an explanation from Japan as to why that nation has assumed sovereignty over the entire island of Saghalin. There seemed to be but little excuse for interference by the United States on a matter so far removed from its shores or even from its commercial activities. In view of our present friction with Japan, it might be assumed that we should be glad to hear of Japan finding an outlet for her surplus population almost anywhere else than in the United States.

It appears, however, that there is no particular menace in Japan's assumption of control over the island, a part of which belongs to Russia and, no doubt, it is in defense of Russian interests, that the American protest has been made. It is presumed that if Japan wants permanent possession of the island, she will have little difficulty in making such an arrangement just as soon as any representative body secures control of Russian affairs.

It was Japanese explorers who discovered Saghalin to be an island and not a peninsula as it appeared on the map previous to 1850 and the Russians had so little use for the island that it was used only as a penal colony for Siberian convicts. In 1875 the southern part of the island was ceded to Russia, but by the treaty of Portsmouth, after the Russo-Japanese war, this area, possibly two-fifths of the whole, was returned to Japan.

The island has an average temperature around freezing point throughout the year, and there is but three months of vegetation. The population is about 5000 and the chief importance of the island seems to lie in the fact that it is off shore, opposite a strong Siberian port. We do not believe it is worthy of becoming an issue in international affairs. The position lies between Russia and Japan and they can settle it easily without making it a cause of war. Otherwise it could be referred for decision to the League of Nations or to the Root court of international justice.

HONORING OUR HEROES

The Army and Navy club of New York is endeavoring to secure a complete list of the officers who gave their lives in the world war in order that their names may be preserved in the $3,000,000 memorial hall and officers' clubhouse to be erected in New York city. Undoubtedly friends of officers, who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war, can render valuable aid in completing the record.

The Massachusetts list of casualties given out by Washington numbers 206 officers, but of these the club has only 189 names and wants to secure the others through relatives, if possible. Of those reported lost, it is claimed that 102 were killed in action, 35 died of wounds, 32 of disease, 26 of accident and 11 from unknown causes. Included in the Massachusetts list are the names of Captain Kittredge, Lieut. Lorne L. Cupples, Lieut. Paul T. Kearney and Lieut. Raymond Messer, all of Lowell. Information relative to officers whose record is incomplete will be gratefully received at the club headquarters, 261 Madison avenue, New York.

The new club is to be a home for officers who occasionally visit New York and in that respect it will be quite convenient. It is desirable that similar conveniences should be provided for the privates, soldiers and sailors of the American Legion; but this will doubtless be forthcoming in due time.

The New York memorial hall will differ from the Lowell memorial auditorium in that it honors only fallen officers. The Lowell memorial will honor all alike. For the fallen heroes there will be all due homage to their memory and for those who survive, the most patriotic consideration. No distinction will be made between officers and privates as the officer who dies fighting for his country deserves no higher honor than does the humblest private in the ranks who made the supreme sacrifice. No man can give more to any cause than his life which to the private is quite as dear as to the officer of rank.

THE 20TH AMENDMENT

Many people are asking what the 20th amendment will be, and when it will be submitted to the people. The fact is, no amendment is submitted to the people and further, some amendments are adopted over the opposition of the people. If there is to be any 20th amendment, we would suggest that it should provide for such a change in the constitution as would give the people some voice in the ratification of constitutional amendments. At present the courts take no notice of a referendum on such amendments; and, as appears, neither do some of the state legislatures. It is useless to pass laws unless they are supported by public sentiment and there is only one way of ascertaining public sentiment on any issue and that is by a referendum. In a representative government, it is hardly necessary to make a referendum in such a case mandatory; the fact that a popular referendum fairly expressed stands for or against any given policy should be enough for the legislature called upon to act on that question. No such mandate, we believe, would be disobeyed by the legislators unless for the most convincing reasons.

OLYMPIAN RECORDS

America has scored some great victories at the Olympic games at Antwerp, but not one more notable than the performance of Miss Ethelda Bleibtrey, who in the swimming contest for women, reduced the world's record for 300 metres by nine seconds. It is strange that little Finland came next to the United States in the number of points, scoring 105 to our 212. Our entrants won but nine events in thirty and Finland won an equal number. It is true they won three world's records in stadium events, namely, pole vaulting, hurdles and relay racing at 400 metres and two new Olympic marks in the 56-pound weight throwing and the high jump. The American athletes were outdone in long distance running and walking and in these they will have to develop endurance before the arrival of the next Olympian meet.

THE DUTTON STREET TRAGEDY

Judging from the circumstances connected with the Dutton street tragedy, the most probable theory of the case is, that the woman having had a talk with her husband from whom she had been separated for over a year, had decided to go back to him or to leave Lapointe with that end in view. Such a decision on her part communicated to Lapointe, her paramour, might have caused him to murder her; and having done so, fear of the penalty of the law, undoubtedly led him to commit suicide by poison before his crime was discovered. He had ample time to put away the weapon with which he murdered the woman. He might have thrown it into one of the canals in the vicinity.

Carter Glass is set down by the anti-suffragists as the Benedict Arnold of their cause. They single him out for such bitter denunciation because, as they allege, he refused to hear southern women on the question of state rights at San Francisco and hastened to congratulate republican legislatures for ratifying the amendment. They allege he will have some explaining to do to the people of Virginia; but it is to be hoped they will not cast any missiles his way.

Gov. Cox gives the lie to the denial of Chairman Hays that the republican national committee was not to accept contributions higher than $1000. The fact that many over that amount have been received, as testified before the investigating committee in Chicago would seem to bear out Governor Cox's charge.

Mayor Thompson did the right thing in calling the federal officers to stop the moonshine business. The number of seizures made, explain much of the illicit selling carried on throughout the city. The man who risks drinking such stuff must have but slight regard for his safety or else he is the slave of an overpowering appetite.

Brooklyn, N. Y., is in the throes of an outlaw rapid transit strike, which has caused millions to walk who would otherwise ride. Every such strike brings nearer the day of compulsory arbitration and continued service.

Even if Officer Mahan has not been found guilty by Mayor Thompson, he had better be careful not to leave his hat lying around where young people may come along and stuff it with greenbacks while he is not looking.

Gifford Pinchot, erstwhile progressive shooter, comes out in a declaration in favor of Senator Harding. The republicans are welcome to him so long as they can hold him. In party affiliations Gifford is about as slippery as an eel.

Gen. Wrangel's fate is again in controversy. The Bolsheviks say his forces have been annihilated, but the report, as Mark Twain would put it, is greatly exaggerated.

The milk dealers in Springfield have advanced the price of milk to 18 cents a quart. The Lowell dealers seem to be awaiting some city to lead the way to higher price levels.

Senator Calder of New York threatens to expose the manoeuvring of the coal business by profiteers. Go to it Mr. Senator, why hold back on such an unscrupulous lot? Fire away.

When called upon again to engage in a pillow fight, Mayor Thompson will probably show a preference for boxing gloves as then if he gets a sprained wrist nobody will be surprised.

If women must register, it may be necessary to have a law passed providing that there will be no questions asked relative to age by inquisitive election officials.

Again a big drop in the price of coal is predicted. Such news should be broken gently to the public.

Sugar is coming down gradually but coal has not taken the promised drop. On the contrary, the price is still going upward.

Britain bans coal exports. Why not follow Britain's example in this respect?

MAK ABOUT TOWN

The fellow who has lived more years than he wants to tell about, or acknowledge, and who goes back home once in a while, long for a great many old time customs that have disappeared, and "way down deep in his heart he wishes he had the power to revive them. Everything seems to have changed and when it comes to the dance question it's almost enough to make a fellow weep. We tried to locate one of those old-time ghettos recently in a country where they used to prosper, but there was nothing doing. The old familiar "grab your pardners" is obsolete, dead, buried and gone forever. Back in the days when the old red barn or the woodshed used to be used for a dance hall every now and then, Silas the of the flowing brown whiskers and the befeckled face) used to chant the merry call for pardners with much gusto. Folks used to come from everywhere. There was always something to eat and drink. And a good time was had by all. Ain't it funny what a difference just a few years make? Nowadays there beunt no such a thing as the well known "All bound" round with a woolen string, or "Ladies to the centre and gents around the outside." It may be that all of a sudden the whole world began to believe in the ragged-edge expression, "variety is the spice of life." Lookit what we have today—waltz, two-step, one-step, shimmy, Cuban waltz, fox trot. Not to mention the long lost dip, hesitation, tango and glide, which have all come and gone since the days of the barn dance. Yes, since, times have changed and the old days of "break 'er down in front" will never come again. We went looking for an old-time fiddle and found the children of honest and respectable parents that we had known and loved for their righteousness, shimmying with all the abandon of South Sea Islanders. The lil' ol' fox trot is fast trotting to the stable of also rans. But the waltz still stands. And we always did love the waltz. The fellow who wrote "I could waltz With You Through Life" knew what he was talking about.

Agent Richardson of the local Humane society, told me of an amusing incident recently about a little child and a cat. It seems that the agent received a telephone call from the outskirts of the city to go out to a certain house to get a sick cat. As busy as he was he left his office as soon as possible, and jumped into his trusty little "blower" animal ambulance and started over the road to get the suffering feline. After some difficulty he found the correct address and rushed up to the door with his little box to cage the cat. His call at the door was answered by a little girl. Mr. Richardson explained who he was.

"Well," said the little one, "you see, we did call for you a short time ago, but really the cat is very busy now and it can't be bothered. It was sick though, when we called you."

"Well, if it is sick I must bother it," said the agent.

"No, said the little girl, "since we called you the cat has had kittens and it cannot be taken away. It is too busy."

And so the agent had his long trip for nothing.

About five farmers are taking advantage of the public market in Anne street and they all report a fine business. They are J. L. Richardson of the Beaver Brook farm of Dracut, T. B. Willett of Dracut, Mr. Berg of Chelmsford Centre, Mr. Goldswalte of Dunstable and Mr. Edwards of this city. Messrs. Richardson and Goldswalte also sell some of their products in Boston, but they say the greater part of the vegetables they grow are disposed of here in Lowell and at the retail public market. Those who maintain stands in Anne street say the locality is not a bad one, but in their opinion that portion of Worthen street extending from Merrimack street to Market street would be preferable and that there the number of producers doing business at the market would increase considerably. In Anne street those with stands near the corner of Merrimack street are doing the business and that is the reason so few farmers frequent the market.

For whatever information the police department has on the Dutton street murder and suicide case great credit must be given to Lieut. David Petrie. Immediately after the discovery of foul play on last Sunday afternoon, Petrie made quick work of establishing the identity of the couple and by midnight of the same day he was in possession of practically the full story of the affair. His efforts are now given up to the solving of the mystery and finding a motive or cause for the double tragedy. Although the matter is in charge of the district attorney's office through Medical Examiner T. F. Smith, Lieut. Petrie's interest in his work is bound to lead to an early solution by the police. Lieut. Petrie is assisted in his work by Sgt. Philip Dwyer who has been connected with the Lapointe-Gallina investigation since its beginning.

The local election commissioners tell me that a bill is to be introduced at next year's session of the legislature whereby a new system of placing names of candidates on ballots will be put in force in this state. The present regulations say that the names shall be arranged alphabetically, thus giving the candidate whose name begins with A or B the advantage of having top position on the ballot, always considered good for 20 to 300 votes in Lowell alone. If the new system is adopted, the candidate who files his nomination papers first will have first place on the ballot, regardless of what letter his name begins with. The candidate who waits until the last day and hour to file his papers will find his name way down on the list, even though it begins with A. Many people have already expressed the alphabetical system unfair, but to date it has been the best devised in this state. The fate of the bill providing for a new system will be followed with interest.

SEEK AND HEARD

There are good times ahead for the fellows with plenty of money, providing they have the health and capacity to enjoy.

If you want to take the patience test get aboard a boat where the immigration officers operate and await your turn in line with 300 passengers to be properly identified.

For the benefit of aspiring members of the camera force we would suggest that they try to snap semi-wild three months' old calves in a five-acre field. We tried it about a week ago and stand ready to make affidavit to the difficulty of the job.

The golden, sun-kissed grain falling before the reaper is one of the sights that assisted in gladdening our hearts during the last few weeks and all of the things beautiful that we observed were crowned with a sunrise on the sea. That great ball of fire coming up out of the water and the glorious early morning colorings on the horizon make a picture no artist can paint.

Chief Provoked
If the chief of police of St. Louis can find the half-wit near-wit who had him all haired up when he phoned he'd found a tray of diamonds, he'll peel the hide off him. Hot day, and chief immediatly pushed button calling the sleuths. "Where 'dya find it," he barked. "In a deck of cards—tee-hee," chorried the wag, hanging up.

The Speed Boys
"Why, listen," said the artilleryman from Battery A, "our outfit used to move so fast that we were always way ahead of the infantry and they had to send runners up to find us."

Very Exclusive
A negro regiment, officered entirely by whites, had a West Point colonel who was very particular that all men should know who he was and pay him the respect due his position. Coming across a private who paid not the slightest attention to him, he swelled up with rage.

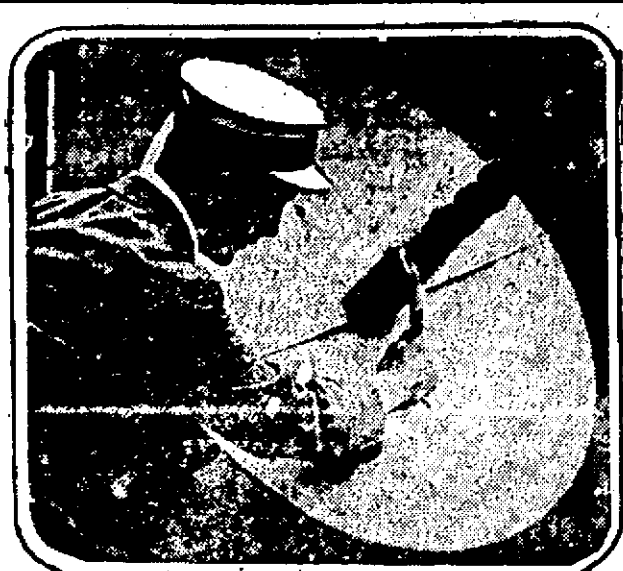

"Look here, my man," he burst forth. "Don't you know who I am?"
"Nossuh," said the private cheerfully.
"What? You mean to stand there and tell me you don't even know your own commanding officer when you see him?"

Some Riches!
The world is beginning to wake up to the reckless waste practiced for a half a century and more in the production and use of its natural resources. Two-thirds of every ton of coal has gone up into the air or into the dump. Enormous volumes of natural gas have been allowed to escape to the limits of an earth atmosphere. Hundreds of millions of barrels of petroleum have flowed over the ground to utter uselessness. And so all along the line. Everywhere you hear of steps being taken to correct the wastefulness. Thus, if conservation becomes the rule hereafter with new discoveries below the surface, there will be less and less need of fear that the world will go short of coal and gasoline in the not very distant future. Canada doesn't propose to be a squeezed out orange like some sections of the United States. During the last five years coal fields and petroleum deposits have been discovered in Alberta to her northwest province, and already she is passing laws against wasteful handling of these resources. One of Canada's scientific investigators reports that "if the coal measures of Alberta can be carefully conserved and scientifically utilized, and all the gas, oil and other by-products be recovered to the best advantage, the whole world can be supplied with fuel and oil, and for a thousand years, from Alberta fields alone."

Child's Best Laxative
Dr. Alfred F. Hess, of New York says that canned tomatoes are good for babies.

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its fruity taste. Full directions on each bottle. You must say "California."

DISCS KEEP OUT RATS

NEW YORK—Here's the way New York health officials are preventing the invasion of foreign rats—by placing metal discs on the hausers of all transatlantic steamers. They take no chances with bubonic plague-infected rats, which are often carried by ships from one country to another.

GRAND OLD MAN

Westford's Oldest Citizen Is Nearing Century Mark
Capt. Mathew Downs of Westford, town's oldest citizen, observed his 95th birthday at his home last Sunday, and received the congratulations of many friends and relatives.

CAPT. MATHEW DOWNS

The observance was of an informal nature. Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present from Westford, Lexington and Frammingham and many friends from Lowell also called during the day.

Despite his advanced age, Capt. Downs enjoys excellent health, is active and is always in touch with current events. He was remembered with flowers, confectionery and cards on his birthday and received many wishes for many more pleasant anniversaries.

GONE TO LABRADOR

Miss Helen Hosmer of South Billerica has gone to Labrador to assist Dr. Grenfell in his labors of mercy for the people there. She will have charge of the X-ray apparatus and the care of many orphans. Miss Hosmer is the daughter of Dr. Charles E. Hosmer of South Billerica and is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. For several years she was employed as a chemist in Schenectady, N. Y.

From base to summit four distinct zones of bird life—tropical, sub-tropical, temperate and alpine—are found in the upper Andes of South America.

BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING BURNS

The barn on the Pearson homestead in West Chelmsford was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon after being struck by lightning, while the house occupied by Miss Josephine Pearson and her two brothers was partially destroyed. Edward Rice, a member of the Chelmsford fire department was overcome by the smoke, while using chemical inside the house, but his condition is not serious.

Two employees of David Ziskind of this city were picking rags in the barn when it was struck, but they escaped injury. They immediately got busy on removing furniture from the house nearby and succeeded in saving the greater portion of it. Neighbors rushed to the scene and armed with buckets attempted to extinguish the flames, but their efforts were fruitless. Absence of a fire signal and a crippled telephone service due to the storm made it difficult to call the fire department and it was only after the barn was practically destroyed that the firemen reached the scene. Their efforts were directed to the house, which was ablaze and after considerable work they succeeded in saving a portion of the building.

A barn belonging to Charles Holland and located on the old Turnpike road in Chelmsford Centre was struck by a bolt yesterday afternoon and was burned to the ground. Mr. Holland was asleep in the building at the time, but he was not injured.

SMART JEWELRY OF GENUINE IVORY

The smartest jewelry that is now found in New York is made of genuine ivory. It consists of pendants, bracelets and necklaces. The bracelets are simply made, without adornment and the necklaces are long strands of round, smooth beads of graduated size.

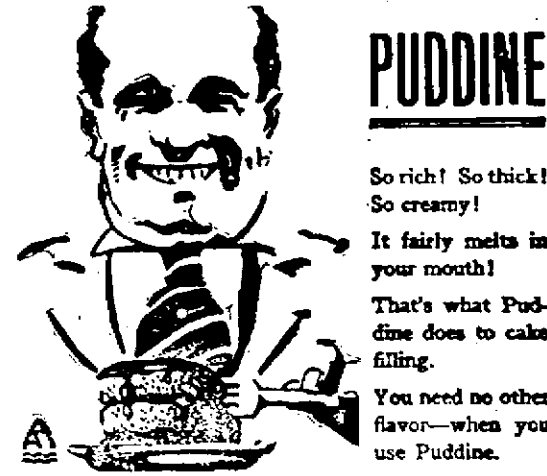

INSURANCE PROMPTLY PAID

Mr. W. D. Brown, agent of the London Assurance Corporation, says in regard to Vinal fire at Bismere where the house was burned to the ground in thirty minutes, that he asked Mr. Vinal when his policy expired in July whether on account of increased cost of building it would not be wise for him to increase his insurance. He did increase it five hundred dollars. His fire was Saturday, less adjusted Monday for full amount of policy.

TWO KILLED, $2,000,000 LOSS, IN CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 1.—Two persons dead, a score injured, damage to the tobacco crop estimated at $2,000,000 and heavy losses to farm buildings and general shops, was the toll of a series of electrical and hail-storms that swept over many sections of Connecticut yesterday afternoon.

The storm assumed cyclonic proportions in North Haven, North Guilford, East Windsor, Suffield, Granby and other towns.

Miss Florence Linsey, of Pittsfield, Mass., was drowned off the Millford shore when high waves upset a rowing boat. Raffaele Shalom, a water tender, with a railroad section gang, was killed at North Haven when a group of frame houses were blown down.

A branch factory of a fireworks concern at North Haven was wrecked by the wind, a dozen young women employed being injured, one seriously. The tobacco districts of the Connecticut River valley were hard hit. The crops in most cases were about 15 per cent. harvested, and the standing tobacco was reported as a total loss on many plantations. In East Windsor the loss was reported as very heavy.

Estimates of damage to tobacco in several towns were: East Windsor, $500,000; Suffield, $600,000; Windsor Locks, $300,000; Granby, $200,000; Ellington and Vernon, $100,000; Windsor, $50,000.

Hailstones larger than walnuts were found in the tobacco fields after the storm passed. It is said that very little insurance was carried on the tobacco. The wind also did heavy damage to fruit trees and to corn. Telephone service was impaired in several sections of the state.

may eventually give to women rights to which they are entitled but good health, which is the birthright of every American woman, must be hers before she can fully enjoy the privileges which woman's suffrage will bring.

Women who suffer from these dreadful pains, backache, headaches, irritability, nervousness and depression, symptoms of organic trouble, should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, to restore them to a normal, healthy condition as it has thousands of other American women.—Adv.

Wires were torn off the poles and for several hours it was necessary to flag trains to pass them over the tracks between Meriden and North Haven. A gang of section men at work on the tracks saw the storm coming and ran to shelter in these houses, where the water tender was killed.

The path of the storm from Hamden to North Haven was marked by fallen trees. The beginning of the wind's sweep into North Haven apparently was along State street, outside of this city, where the roof was blown off a brick house.

Half a mile beyond this point an off-shoot of the storm crushed a frame building used by M. Backes & Son, fireworks makers, of Wallingford. A dozen girls were employed there. The building was lifted completely from its underpinning, carried 20 feet and piled in a mass of ruins. All the girls were bruised and one more seriously hurt.

Farther north, in Wallingford, lightning killed a horse. Wires were blown down, putting electric light and telephone circuits out of commission. New Haven escaped the main sweep of the storm, no damage from wind or rain being reported.

In ancient times many roads radiated to all parts of the empire from a golden mile post in the forum at Rome.

WOMAN DROWNED AT LYNN BEACH
BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Miss Rachel Walsh, 22 years of age, of 61 Lowell street, Lawrence, a summer resident at Revere beach, was drowned yesterday afternoon at Lynn beach on the Nahant side. Three companions, seated on the shore not 200 feet away, heard no cries from her and did not know she had perished until lifeguards at the state bath house brought the body to shore.

Miss Walsh and Miss Minnie Sullivan of the same address, who was spending a few weeks at the cottage of Miss Walsh's mother at Revere, were on Revere beach, attired in their bathing suits, when they met two young men who invited them for an automobile ride.

The two youths who gave their names to the metropolitan park police as Homer Johnson and Rudolph Currier of 69 Union street, Lynn, drove the two girls as far as Lynn beach to a point just beyond the state bath house. Miss Walsh went into the surf to bathe, while the two men and Miss Sullivan, seated themselves on the sand a short distance away.

A motorist driving from Nahant to Lynn noticed a floating object in the water about 170 feet from shore. Thinking it might be a body he notified the officers at the bath house and two lifeguards, Joseph Finnerty and William Park, rowed to the spot, found the body of Miss Walsh, and brought it ashore. Drs. Leavitt and Lougee rendered first aid and used a pulmotor for more than an hour, but their efforts were futile. Medical Examiner Loring Grimes viewed the body and declared death due to accidental drowning.

It was the first drowning at Lynn beach in two years. The fatality probably would not have happened had the woman been bathing within the confines of the state bath house, where guards are continually on duty.

Lawrence Boy Drowned
LAWRENCE, Sept. 1.—Tommy Khoury, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Khoury of 2 Bennington street, was drowned yesterday noon in the Merrimack river, where he was swimming with two companions of about the same age. Instead of giving the alarm, the boys dressed and went to the boy's house, nearly a mile away.

In the olden days of glass-staining only 13 colors were known, while more than 5000 different pigments are used now.

YOUNG MEN ADVISED TO SPECIALIZE
Great Demand for Capable Accountants
The demand for thoroughly capable office managers, cost accountants, auditors, comptrollers, assistant treasurers, and public accountants is greatly in excess of the supply.

Young men who are interested in following a business career are urged to fit themselves to enter the rapidly growing profession of accountancy. This requires a thorough training in accounting subjects, business law, business calculations, office management, economics and corporation finance. It is a mistake to mix academic and technical or professional subjects. In order to become a high-class accountant, one must specialize in accounting practice and procedure, the designing of accounting systems, cost accounting, auditing, advanced accounting problems, accounting for trustees and executors, office organization and administration, the preparation of income tax returns, bank credits and financial problems.

The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, 125 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass., is the largest professional school of collegiate grade in the United States that is devoted exclusively to the training of accountants. The enrollment last year was 1335. This school admits men only and trains them in two years (from September 13 to June 20) for commercial and public accounting practice. If a young man cannot afford to attend but one year, the school assists him in obtaining a desirable accounting position in Boston, so that he can complete his training by attending evening sessions for two years. This plan is particularly favored by college men, as well as high school graduates.

This school is enthusiastically endorsed by prominent public accountants, teachers and business men as the best school in this country for those desiring to specialize in accounting. Last year the school was unable to accommodate over 200 who applied for entrance after the maximum enrollment had been reached.

Sixty-one per cent of the class that graduated in June had passed the C.P.A. (certified public accountant) examinations before graduating. This is a record never achieved by any other educational institution.

A former student, 25 years of age, was recently placed by the school at $7500 per year. Two members of the senior class were placed recently at $3500 and $4500, respectively. The school is unable to meet the demand for accountants at salaries from $2500 to $6500.

Young men should not let the lure of a small position stand in the way of sufficient technical education to fit them for bigger things for if they do they are almost certain to have the unhappy experience of seeing younger but better trained men advanced over them.

Boston is an ideal city in which to live while attending such an institution. The dean of the school arranges for room and board at reasonable rates when requested to do so.

Young men interested in accounting should write at once to H. C. Bentley, President, for a catalog.

may eventually give to women rights to which they are entitled but good health, which is the birthright of every American woman, must be hers before she can fully enjoy the privileges which woman's suffrage will bring.

Women who suffer from these dreadful pains, backache, headaches, irritability, nervousness and depression, symptoms of organic trouble, should rely on Lydia E. Wires were torn off the poles and for several hours it was necessary to flag trains to pass them over the tracks between Meriden and North Haven. A gang of section men at work on the tracks saw the storm coming and ran to shelter in these houses, where the water tender was killed.

The path of the storm from Hamden to North Haven was marked by fallen trees. The beginning of the wind's sweep into North Haven apparently was along State street, outside of this city, where the roof was blown off a brick house.

Half a mile beyond this point an off-shoot of the storm crushed a frame building used by M. Backes & Son, fireworks makers, of Wallingford. A dozen girls were employed there. The building was lifted completely from its underpinning, carried 20 feet and piled in a mass of ruins. All the girls were bruised and one more seriously hurt.

Farther north, in Wallingford, lightning killed a horse. Wires were blown down, putting electric light and telephone circuits out of commission. New Haven escaped the main sweep of the storm, no damage from wind or rain being reported.

WOMAN DROWNED AT LYNN BEACH
BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Miss Rachel Walsh, 22 years of age, of 61 Lowell street, Lawrence, a summer resident at Revere beach, was drowned yesterday afternoon at Lynn beach on the Nahant side. Three companions, seated on the shore not 200 feet away, heard no cries from her and did not know she had perished until lifeguards at the state bath house brought the body to shore.

Miss Walsh and Miss Minnie Sullivan of the same address, who was spending a few weeks at the cottage of Miss Walsh's mother at Revere, were on Revere beach, attired in their bathing suits, when they met two young men who invited them for an automobile ride.

The two youths who gave their names to the metropolitan park police as Homer Johnson and Rudolph Currier of 69 Union street, Lynn, drove the two girls as far as Lynn beach to a point just beyond the state bath house. Miss Walsh went into the surf to bathe, while the two men and Miss Sullivan, seated themselves on the sand a short distance away.

A motorist driving from Nahant to Lynn noticed a floating object in the water about 170 feet from shore. Thinking it might be a body he notified the officers at the bath house and two lifeguards, Joseph Finnerty and William Park, rowed to the spot, found the body of Miss Walsh, and brought it ashore. Drs. Leavitt and Lougee rendered first aid and used a pulmotor for more than an hour, but their efforts were futile. Medical Examiner Loring Grimes viewed the body and declared death due to accidental drowning.

It was the first drowning at Lynn beach in two years. The fatality probably would not have happened had the woman been bathing within the confines of the state bath house, where guards are continually on duty.

Lawrence Boy Drowned
LAWRENCE, Sept. 1.—Tommy Khoury, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Khoury of 2 Bennington street, was drowned yesterday noon in the Merrimack river, where he was swimming with two companions of about the same age. Instead of giving the alarm, the boys dressed and went to the boy's house, nearly a mile away.

In the olden days of glass-staining only 13 colors were known, while more than 5000 different pigments are used now.

YOUNG MEN ADVISED TO SPECIALIZE
Great Demand for Capable Accountants
The demand for thoroughly capable office managers, cost accountants, auditors, comptrollers, assistant treasurers, and public accountants is greatly in excess of the supply.

Young men who are interested in following a business career are urged to fit themselves to enter the rapidly growing profession of accountancy. This requires a thorough training in accounting subjects, business law, business calculations, office management, economics and corporation finance. It is a mistake to mix academic and technical or professional subjects. In order to become a high-class accountant, one must specialize in accounting practice and procedure, the designing of accounting systems, cost accounting, auditing, advanced accounting problems, accounting for trustees and executors, office organization and administration, the preparation of income tax returns, bank credits and financial problems.

The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, 125 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass., is the largest professional school of collegiate grade in the United States that is devoted exclusively to the training of accountants. The enrollment last year was 1335. This school admits men only and trains them in two years (from September 13 to June 20) for commercial and public accounting practice. If a young man cannot afford to attend but one year, the school assists him in obtaining a desirable accounting position in Boston, so that he can complete his training by attending evening sessions for two years. This plan is particularly favored by college men, as well as high school graduates.

This school is enthusiastically endorsed by prominent public accountants, teachers and business men as the best school in this country for those desiring to specialize in accounting. Last year the school was unable to accommodate over 200 who applied for entrance after the maximum enrollment had been reached.

TEWKSBURY SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPT

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents

MERIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The World and His Wife," the celebrated production which has been attracting capacity audiences to the Merimack square theatre this week, will close its three days' engagement this evening. Tomorrow will bring an entire change of program.

Featuring the Thursday, Friday and Saturday bill will be Dorothy Dalton in an intensely human drama of domestic life, "Guilty of Love," Anderson, play adapted from a successful play by Avery Howwood.

Miss Dalton has the role of Thelma Miller, a New England girl who left penniless goers to New York and secures a position as governess in the home of the rich Mrs. Watkins. The latter's brother, Norris Townsend, falls in love with Thelma, and his father, trying to keep them apart, sends Norris abroad. Upon his return, Thelma is about to become a mother. She compels him to marry her, at the point of the revolver, then leaves him years afterwards Norris comes upon her as a school teacher in a little New England town and a dramatic event finally effects a reconciliation between them.

Edward Langford is Miss Dalton's leading man in "Guilty of Love," and the supporting cast also includes Charles Langford, Augusta Anderson, Harley Knoles directed the picture.

The other feature for the week-end will be Harry Carey in "A Gun Fightin' Gentleman," a red-blooded story of the west in which the hero, who proves that he can make love as gallantly as he rides and shoots.

A Rainbow comedy, "An Old Can Romeo," the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture will complete the bill.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

In a whirlwind that is a most satisfying mixture of music, comedy and novelty, at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, there stand out several acts which will tickle the appetite of any lover of the varieties. The Gypsy dancers with their well sung numbers; Herschel Hender in his riot of fun, novelty and music; Stella Tracey and Carl McBride, in a mixture of dancing and comedy—these are several of the points that will make very strong appeal. However, one mustn't forget Susan Tompkins, the violinist, who was formerly with the Sousa band; or the Lorimer Hudson troupe of cyclists, whose work on the unicycles is a tremendous hit; or "Pink Stockings," admirably played by Jilly Chase and Charlotte LaTour, or the dancers, Layra and Billy Dreyer. In addition to all these good acts there are the analysis of speed pictures, showing the famous "Babe" Ruth, Carl Nagel, Speaker, Melrod, Pimp and other noted players. It's a great bill.

OWL THEATRE

Tomorrow, the Owl theatre will open another great bill. Leading this movie feast is "The Sagebrusher," an Emerson Hough story with as fine a story

VICTORIOUS SUFFRAGISTS CELEBRATE AS MRS. CATT RETURNS

NEW YORK—Suffragists in parade from the Pennsylvania station in honor of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, upon her return from the successful battle for ratification in Tennessee, the 36th and final state. Inset, Mrs. Catt, snapped on arrival.

as one could wish, in seven reels, Marguerite de Lamotte leads, and Roy Stewart and Noah Beery have great parts in this story of the love of a homely girl for a blind man. There's an unusual fight scene in it, too.

THE STRAND

"The Virgin of Stamboul," starring

Priscilla Dean, is easily one of the biggest film productions presented locally in a season. Thousands saw it on Monday and Tuesday, and another turn-away crowd is expected for the last performances today. Don't miss seeing it. It gives a peep into a harem, shows the dancing girls, and has more action than most pictures and a climax that's a real hummer. Harry T. Morey in "The Gauntlet" is another of those vigorous stories of the Tennessee mountains. Tomorrow "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals" will be the big feature.

OPERA HOUSE

"Civilian Clothes," the opening attraction by the Lowell Players at the Opera House next week, beginning with matinee on Monday, is one of the few successful after-the-war comedy dramas by Oliver Morosco, a play that had such a phenomenal run in New York City and later in Boston. It was released for stock use only recently, and Manager Schako is particularly fortunate in securing it for immediate production. The sale of tickets opens Thursday of this week, but regular subscribers may renew their orders earlier by mail. Only three members of last year's company have been retained for the coming season, Miss Marguerite Fields, Miss Priscilla Knowles and Jack Bennett. The new numbers are Milton Byron, leading man, Miss Sarah Kyles, Max Driscoll, Florence Hill, Henry Gurvey, Fred Woodbury, Wallace Mason and Katherine Hudson.

lodged with the aid of an armored car. The shipyard workers, in their zeal to help the soldiers became a nuisance and the commanding officers asked them to withdraw. Trams caught between the opposing forces ran a gauntlet of bullets, the drivers cowering over their wheels and the passengers lying on the floor.

One man was killed in the North street encounter. There was another bitter fight at the docks between shipyard workers and union dockworkers, the dockers firing on the shipyard employees. The latter used sticks and stones and a fierce battle waged until police and soldiers with a machine gun ended the conflict. One docker was killed by the misdirected fire of his own party.

214 Serious Fires

The total number of serious fires in Belfast since Wednesday last reached 214 this morning, practically all starting in the property of nationalists.

Enforcement of the curfew ordinance last night had a quieting effect. All persons without permits were compelled to leave the streets at 10.30 o'clock and all tram cars ceased running at 9. Before midnight the streets were almost deserted, and only a few persons were around. There were several fires in various sections of town during the early evening, but no serious rioting occurred.

Troops Fire Into Crowd

Although Belfast was far from peaceful yesterday, there was nothing similar to the wild scenes of Monday. Sporadic outbreaks occurred, however, the worst being on "Old Lodge road" on the north side of the city where soldiers fired on a mob during the forenoon. Another riot took place at Castle Junction, the hub of Belfast, where nationalists began an attack in the afternoon, giving rise to a situation so serious that troops were summoned. When the disorder continued, the soldiers fired and dispersed the rioters, several casualties resulting.

Efforts are being made to have U. S. volunteers accepted as patrolmen by the police authorities, but the latter have been reluctant to accept. The volunteers' claims have been conceded at Lisburn, near here, and the civilian patrol has been doing valuable work.

Sinn Féin Police on Duty

Sinn Féin police did duty in the Falls district on Monday night, but of course without the knowledge of the authorities. They closed public houses in that part of the city during the time they were on duty. Their work was emulated though not in the same spirit by unionist youths in various parts of the city yesterday. These men continued their campaign of incendiarism against nationalists' illicit dens.

Masked armed raiders invaded a ball room at the Ross Clare Strand hotel, County Wexford, on Monday night while a fancy ball was in full swing. They compelled the dancers to raise their hands above their heads, after which the guests were searched and a number of military and naval officers were expelled. These officers were admonished that they were not permitted to mingle socially with the people as they belonged to the army of occupation. Several women were sent home on the ground that they were insufficiently clad. When the raiders withdrew no attempt was made to resume the dancing.

MIGHTY OVATION GIVEN EDWARDS

8000 YD Veterans March
Before General in Farewell
Review

Great Crowds Join in Tribute
—"May Bring Him Back,"
Says Coolidge.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—With battle-flags flying and following the bands that played them over many a weary hike on the other side, 8000 members of that once famous fighting outfit, the 26th Division, marched down Beacon street and across the common at sunset last evening in a farewell review to their old commander, Gen. Clarence R. Edwards.

With bared heads, in columns of platoons with their old officers in front of them, they passed the general. The veterans seemed to stand a little straighter and fall into the military stride of war days, as they neared him. When the order "eyes left" was given, they turned their heads in unison to look at the "old man," and there were tears in many eyes. He stood there, the trained soldier, erect, with now and then his hand snapping to the salute, but there were tears in his eyes, too.

Parents and Relatives

Around the roped off enclosure, a crowd estimated at more than 20,000 crowded, cheering the veterans and their hero leader. They consisted, in a large degree, of parents and relatives of Yankee Division men, some of boys who were left sleeping under little white crosses near the battle line. But they all love the white haired general who led the New England troops to battle. This throng paid its tribute, with bared heads, when the general made his appearance, and later cheered him to the echo.

Partisans of the different regiments applauded their appearance. The veterans assembled in their old units, and every unit of the old division was represented, even though it was but a skeleton of its former self. Distant cities and towns throughout New England sent men to represent their comrades. The full division was present in spirit, with the backing of thousands of other men who saw service in the army, navy or marine corps, on the side lines.

After the last company marched past, and the veterans stood in massed formation, facing their departing leader, there seemed to be a spontaneous desire to hear him, and in spite of the efforts of their former officers to restrain them, the division broke, and rushed wildly toward the stand. Then the cheering began and continued until Gen. Charles H. Cole arose to speak. He asked them to open the farrow exercises with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," which was done with all the bands playing.

In speaking of Gen. Edwards, Gen. Cole said that he is a soldier and demanded obedience and discipline from every man under him. He never forgot he was a man, though, the speaker continued, and had a hearty full of sympathy and love, for the boys who served under him.

Gov. Coolidge

Gov. Coolidge recounted the history of Gen. Edwards' service in the New England states, beginning with his arrival to organize the department of the northeast, three years ago. He mentioned the place the general has made in the hearts of the people of these New England states, and said there were regrets at his departure in every home.

"It was your great fortune to follow him into France and follow his leadership into battle," the governor continued. "What that leadership was, is attested by allied arms and by the confidence and respect of those who served under him. You were all pleased to know that he returned to the command of the northeastern department, and hoped that he would be here until his retirement from the service. You know that his home is here, you know that his heart is here, and that those who love him are here. So it is with sad hearts that you now bid him good-bye."

May Bring Him Back

"I do not know what the future holds in store for him, but after the 4th of March there may be an opportunity to bring him back."

With the intimation that Gen. Edwards might be returned, the Y.D. men went wild with joy, and there was an other period of cheering both for Gov. Coolidge, and for Gen. Edwards. In the absence of Mayor Peters, Councilman Morlary expressed the regrets of the people of Boston at the departure of Gen. Edwards. The arms of the people of the city are wide open for the general, he declared, asserting emphatically that official Washington would be made to realize that New England wants its own military leader in command here.

Gen. Edwards was presented a silver sabre at this point by Sergt. Ben James of Brookline, formerly of the 101st Infantry. It was a gift of the rank and file of the division to their commander and in the form most acceptable to a soldier.

"Sir," the sergeant said, in presenting this token of their esteem, "you treated us white in France, and everytime you see this sabre, we, your old boys, want you to know we love and honor you."

No greater tribute could be given any soldier and Gen. Edwards was greatly affected by it. The cheering now lasted for several minutes, each time that it seemed to subside, some unit would take it up again, until finally Gen. Edwards raised his hand for silence.

General's Response

"Fellow Yanks, of the army, navy and marine corps," he began, speaking very slowly, and with evident effort. "Something in my voice is pretty near tears—Thank you for the marvelous testimonial for the wonderful kindly spirit of you boys of mine, my old boys."

"Great opportunity and honor have been mine while connected with New England. I was chosen in 1916 to organize this department of the northeast. I was then chosen and entrusted with the lives of the stout-hearted lads from this locality. With them, and in command of them, I served as long as any American general. This division was one of four pioneers, who with the 16 or 20 destroyers, held the lines until victory could be made sure by the arrival of their fellows.

"France, Belgium and England have paid tribute to this division of yours. By them we have been cited; by them we have been decorated. But our real glory, besides the conscientiousness in our own hearts that we gave our best, is the tribute, confidence and pride of the great sustaining power of our troops in battle—the people of New England."

"I returned here ahead of these soldiers in time to tell fathers and mothers and friends what these lads did in France, and then continued to command this department. You people of New England and the lads that I commanded have given me, and the best soldier of whom I have knowledge, who has followed the drum for 30 years, my wife, a benediction. Such has been your kindly treatment, your response to everything in this marvelous demonstration, that you have made us both believe that we have received the big things in life at your hands. All I can say is, your action permits me to add that I am envious of no American soldier. I am confident of justice, if you make the laws."

Cheer Mrs. Edwards

Mrs. Edwards was presented with a bouquet of flowers from the YD club of Hingham. She stood by her husband during a greater part of the exercises. Three cheers were given for "The best soldier the general knows—Mrs. Edwards."

Sergt. J. S. Gately of Brookline, formerly of the 101st Infantry, was boosted to the stand by his fellows and made a plea for the return of Gen. Edwards to New England. He asked Gov. Coolidge to carry out his promise of having him returned after March 4th.

"Bring back our 'old man' with two stars on his shoulder," the sergeant asked. "This may be the last chance we will ever have of raising our voices in his defense. Let's cheer our 'old man' once again." He was then cheered with a mighty roar that showed the good will that lay back of it.

At the close of the exercises it seemed as though every YD man on the field wanted to shake hands with Gen. Edwards at once. The crush was so great about the stand that several women fainted and ambulances had to be sent for. Finally the general mentioned the crowd away, and signified his intention of going out into the open field, where his former soldiers could shake his hand without crowding.

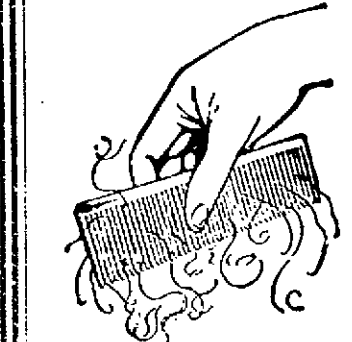

For more than two hours he stood there, shaking the hands of "his boys." It was well after dark before he was able to drive away, but there were still thousands of people on the review grounds.

MANY PROMINENT MEN COME OUT FOR TANLAC

FORMER MAYOR OF BIRMINGHAM
RECOMMENDS IT

Hon. Frank V. Evans Says
He Weighs More Than Ever in His Life

One of the latest additions to the large and rapidly growing list of prominent men who have publicly endorsed Tanlac for the good it has done them is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former mayor of Birmingham. Mr. Evans is one of the best known men in public life in Alabama, being at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers, the Birmingham Age-Herald. He was also examiner of public accounts in Alabama. In telling of the benefits he had derived from Tanlac, Mr. Evans said:

"For years I suffered with gastritis and indigestion in the worst form. I was habitually constipated and had pains in my shoulders and headachings continually. My appetite left me almost entirely and everything I could eat hurt me. Finally I got to having awful attacks of acute indigestion, palpitation of the heart and smothering spells. For a long time I would have one or more of these spells every night and I would wake out of my restless sleep gasping for breath."

"I bought a bottle of Tanlac and to my surprise and gratification, I began to feel better after the first few doses. I kept taking the medicine and now weigh more than ever before and my recovery is simply the talk of Birmingham."

Rev. A. H. Sykes is Gratiified
Over Wife's Condition

Rev. A. H. Sykes, pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., prominent not only as a minister of the gospel, but popular as a man and citizen who has been true to his friends and every trust ever reposed in him, said recently:

"For the last ten months, Mrs. Sykes has been in very delicate health, suffering from bad stomach and kidney troubles, which gradually developed into a general nervous breakdown. At times her condition became alarming and I frequently sought medical advice, but nothing we could do for her seemed to bring relief."

"In fact, she suffered so long and so much that I felt it my duty to let every one know what this medicine has done for her. For several months her condition was such that she had to remain in bed, and as a last resort I decided to let her try Tanlac."

"I am a conservative man and have always been skeptical regarding the use of proprietary medicines, but this case has certainly proven an exception. I am now firmly convinced that Tanlac is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had taken only two-thirds of a bottle of this medicine when we began to notice a marked improvement in her condition. In less than a week she was able to sit up and is today able to help with the household duties. Before she began taking Tanlac she had fearful pains in her side and suffered constantly from sour stomach, and indigestion and was intensely nervous. These distressing symptoms, I am thankful to say, have entirely disappeared, her appetite has returned and she seems to relish everything she eats. She sleeps better and is gaining strength and flesh rapidly. I think it only a question of a short time until her health is fully restored."

"Tanalac has certainly proven a remarkable remedy to her case and will do all you claim for it. I cheerfully recommend it to my friends."

WELL-TO-DO FARMER
GIVES HIS TESTIMONY

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straightforward statement made by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kans.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food. Nothing agreed with me in fact, I was almost a confirmed dyspeptic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. This was just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac; and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat, I never suffer any bad after effects. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

COUNTY REGISTRAR THINKS
HE OUGHT TO SPEAK OUT

Hon. C. G. Lavender, registrar of Williamson County, Tenn., and one of the most popular men in that section, said: "I feel like I owe it to suffering humanity to speak out and tell what this great medicine, Tanlac, has done for me. I was hardly ever without pain, and every three or four months I would have to take to my bed. Well, Tanlac certainly did go after my trouble, and it has ended it."

Mayors, Judges, State and County Officials, Bankers,
Lawyers, Doctors, Editors and Ministers In-
dorse It

It is seldom, indeed, that men of prominence, especially men holding high public office, willingly express their indebtedness publicly to a proprietary medicine. Many prominent men, however, including supreme court judges, mayors of our leading cities, prominent State and county officials, bankers, lawyers, doctors, editors, leading educators, government officials and even ministers of the gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell the people what Tanlac has done for them.

These well-known men of affairs have recognized in this medicine a new discovery and a scientific triumph in the medical world. It is a well-known fact that these splendid endorsements have been given Tanlac time and again, and they will continue to be given just as often as new tests of its powers are made and it also explains why numbers of the big drug firms of the country are ordering it exclusively in carload lots.

Appearing below are a few endorsements from the large numbers that are continually being given to the public.

HIGH SHERIFFS
NOW CONVINCED

From Widely Separated
States Comes Highest
Praise for Tanlac

From four of the best known sheriffs in the South, in widely separated States, have come enthusiastic endorsements as to the merits of Tanlac.

"Tanalac has certainly helped me, and I recommend it for the good it has done in my case," said Hon. C. W. Mangum, ex-sheriff of Fulton County, Georgia, who resides in Atlanta, and who has been one of the most popular officials in the state, having served three terms as sheriff.

"Tanalac seemed to be just what I needed to put my system in shape, and it has done me right up. Naturally I would recommend it to my friends, and I know of fifteen or twenty families that are taking it now on my say-so."

Hon. Charles L. Lewis, ex-sheriff of Crittendon County, a merchant and a large plantation owner of Marion, Ark., said: "I am convinced from the benefits that my wife and myself and many of our friends have received from Tanlac that it is without an equal."

"Money couldn't buy the good Tanlac has done for me, and I gladly recommend it to others for what it has done in my case," said Hon. Archie H. Anderson, ex-sheriff of Harris County, Texas, who was re-elected to this high office seven times and served the people of his county for 15 years as sheriff. Mr. Anderson was chief of police of the city of Houston, where he resided for several years, and there is not a better known man in Harris County.

"I needed a general, all-around building up for the last seven months, and Tanlac has done that very thing for me," said Hon. S. A. Kelly, sheriff of Ector County, who resides at Odessa, Texas, and who is one of the most popular officials in that section of the State.

"I have taken only two bottles but I feel like a different man already. My appetite is fine and what I eat gives me nourishment and strength. The rheumatism is much better and my liver is in good condition. I am relieved of the headaches and feel more active and energetic than I have for months."

Illinois Doctor Now Prescribes
It for His Patients

Dr. B. H. Elder, with offices at 410 Shradski Building, Peoria, Ill., who has been in active practice for over forty years, says:

"Medical science has never before produced a medicine that brings results like Tanlac. I have been prescribing it some time with remarkable results. Personally, I suffered for years from stomach trouble and rheumatism and had devoted my best thought trying to find relief, but to no avail. I had a patient who had also suffered for years with the same trouble as mine, and although I did all I could for him he got no better. One day, after he had been away for about six months, he came to my office and never in my life have I seen a man look better or seem to feel better than he did. He told me Tanlac was what had brought about the wonderful change. I began trying the medicine with the result that a few bottles relieved me entirely of stomach trouble, rheumatism and all my other ailments. I have prescribed Tanlac in cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder disorders and a run-down condition with wonderful results, and I feel I ought to give my experience with Tanlac to the public for the benefit of suffering humanity."

TANLAC TO BE SOLD
OVER ENTIRE STATE

In only a few weeks, time Tanlac will be placed on sale in practically every large city, town, village and hamlet in the State of Massachusetts. A number of agencies already have been established in the very limited time, but it is desired by the manufacturers that the distribution be made more complete and far-reaching.

Druggists and dealers who are interested should write or telegraph The Tanlac Company, Fourth National Bank Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

N. Y. BUSINESS MEN ENTHUSED
OVER RESULTS

Prominent Broker, Real Estate
Man and Insurance Man
Tell Experiences

One of the most prominent brokers of Buffalo, an insurance man, a well-known real estate man of Tonawanda and other business men in the State of New York have come forward with statements telling of their remarkable experience with Tanlac.

The first statement quoted is one made by L. L. Moore of Buffalo. Mr. Moore resides at 33 Eighteenth street, and has been in the brokerage business in Buffalo for the past thirty years. He is among that city's best known and respected citizens and when men of his type testify, it cannot be doubted that the Master Medicine is all that is claimed for it. In describing his case and failure heretofore to find relief, Mr. Moore said:

"Tanalac has benefited me even beyond my belief and I think it is time for me to talk for the benefit of others."

"For twenty years I was almost a constant sufferer from nervous indigestion, a disordered liver and sciatic rheumatism. The gas which formed from my undigested food would press on my heart with such force at times as to almost cut off my breath and the gasping for breath, together with the pains around my heart, caused me to suffer agony. The sciatic nerve in my hips and legs also gave me a great deal of trouble. At night especially, pains would attack me so suddenly and sharp as to fairly raise me off the bed and I had to walk the floor to get relief."

"I am now on my third bottle of Tanlac and I am going to continue taking it, as it is fast making me feel like a new man. Tanlac is the only medicine that has ever helped me and I gladly recommend it to anyone suffering like I did."

Eugene Tanner, well-known real estate man of Tonawanda, in his statement, said:

"My stomach was so badly out of fix I could not eat a meal without suffering hours afterwards. My food just seemed to lodge in the pit of my stomach and lie there like lead and ferment. I lost weight and was so run-down I could hardly hold out through the day."

"I saw where our best people were recommending Tanlac, so I decided to try it and I don't hesitate to recommend it for I am now enjoying perfect health and give entire credit to the Tanlac I took."

In his statement, Joseph Urban, 137 Fillmore avenue, Buffalo, a valued employee of the Prudential Life Insurance company, said:

"When a man has had stomach trouble for a year or so had been eating anything without suffering afterwards, and then finds a medicine that fixes him up in just a few days, so that everything agrees with him, I think it is time for him to talk for the benefit of others. Well, that is what Tanlac has done for me and I cannot praise it too highly. I honestly believe Tanlac is the finest medicine for stomach trouble ever sold in a drug store."

Nearly everybody in Buffalo either knows or has heard of John P. Jordan, proprietor of the John P. Jordan Moving company, 136 Orlando street. Mr. Jordan was born in Buffalo, has lived there all his life and his standing and influence are too well-known to require further comment. Mr. Jordan had suffered with stomach trouble and a general run-down condition for over a year.

"I have only been taking Tanlac for about ten days and have just finished my first bottle," said Mr. Jordan, "but am feeling so much better that I am ready right now to tell everybody about it. Tanlac is by far the best medicine I have ever run across and I am glad to recommend it, for it has certainly proved to be the right thing for me and I cannot praise it too highly."

PRESIDENT OF COTTON
OIL MILL PRAISES IT

Mr. C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Home Cotton Oil company of Lawrenceville, Ga., and one of the big business men of Atlanta, said:

"I suffered for seven or eight years. Not until I began taking Tanlac have I been able to notice the slightest improvement in my condition. I am greatly improved and Tanlac is unquestionably the best thing of the kind I ever tried."

Among the prominent manufacturers and business men who have endorsed Tanlac are John F. Carroll, cotton mill superintendent and leading citizen of Chattahoochee and Atlanta; N. M. Yancey, manager of contract department, Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph company.

LEGISLATOR'S WIFE IS RESTORED BY TANLAC

Mrs. S. S. Jackson, 321 Bernard street, Savannah, Ga., wife of Hon. Sam M. Jackson, the well-known legislator from Chatham County and one of the leading men of the State, said:

"I was a great sufferer from indigestion, insomnia and nervousness. My stomach would swell up with gas at times until my heart felt like it would stop and my food seemed to poison me. The first bottle of Tanlac seemed to relieve me of trouble entirely. It certainly is a fortunate thing for me that I know about Tanlac."—Adv.

CALLAHAN GETS CHANCE AFTER TWO YEARS

LAWRENCE, Sept. 1.—Tender of Philadelphia and Frankie Callahan of Boston, two of the leading lightweights in the country will be made the main attraction at Cuddy Brothers Arena Labor Day afternoon. In arranging this match, Johnny Cuddy is going to give the fans of the east the greatest card seen here in years, and fans from all over will flock to see this fight.

Tender and Callahan have met several times, at no decision was excepting one and that was in 1918 in Boston when Tender won in the ninth, after Callahan had broken his wrist. Since recovering from the injury, Callahan has been after another match.

There will also be a splendid preliminary card. A certain number of six rounds will open the festivities. First Jones of Dover will meet Mike Castle in an eight rounder and Kit Thomas and Barney Burke will meet in the semi final of eight rounds.

MONTREAL BEATS TERRY MARTIN

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Young Montreal of Providence caused a lot of money to change hands last night in Mechanics building, winning a decision over Terry Martin of Providence in their 12-round battle, held under the auspices of the Armory, A. A. Martin was a 2 to 1 favorite, but the way he boxed as compared with Montreal, did not warrant any such odds.

Martin was the aggressor throughout the time, but did not display the ability he has in other battles here. He did considerable mauling and at times was wild with his punches. Montreal did not deliver hitting, but his punches, like those of Martin's, lacked force.

At least 5000 fans saw the contest. At least a hundred coming from Providence. Referee Donahue's decision met with the approval of most all. In the opening round Young Britton of Lynn stopped Young Brown of Dorchester in four rounds. John Murphy of Dorchester stopped J. Leconte of Dorchester in three rounds. Young Britton of Lynn stopped Young Brown of Dorchester in three rounds. Young Britton of Lynn stopped Young Brown of Dorchester in three rounds.

SOME EXCITEMENT IN FLETCHER STREET

Through orders of Constable Thomas P. O'Connor, the property of Fortis Tatios, consisting of a shoe shine parlor and supplies, near the corner of Fletcher and Dutton street, has been attached and a keeper has been stationed at the place. Tatios is awaiting trial under $1000 bonds in the local court for alleged felonious assault upon a 5-year-old girl. Last Saturday evening on two occasions a crowd of men had taken to the shoe shine parlor and attacked Tatios. The store windows were smashed, property damaged and the proprietor cut about the head. The presence of the constable last night and the removal of the fixtures attracted a large crowd. That Tatios is in very poor standing at present in that particular locality was evidenced by expressions heard last night by men who, believing Tatios to be in the store, rushed toward the place shouting "lynch him; throw him in the canal," etc. They were visibly disappointed, too, when they found that the man in the store was a constable's keeper. Instead of Tatios,

BOXING IS LEGALIZED

Opponents of Bill Fail in Attempt to Obtain Referendum

(Special to The Sun.)
 STATE HOUSE, Boston, Sept. 1.—The opponents of the bill to legalize boxing in Massachusetts have failed in their attempt to obtain a referendum. Today they acknowledged defeat, beginning tomorrow, the provision of the act may be accepted by any city or town in the commonwealth.

The bill was passed by the legislature this year but was endangered for the time being by the filing on June 11 of a petition for a referendum to the voters. The petitioners had 30 days from the date the bill was signed by the governor, June 1, or until September 2, to secure the prescribed 15,000 additional signatures necessary to place the law upon the ballot this fall.

The Massachusetts Federation of Churches, with the assistance of the Women's Christian Temperance union, Christian Endeavor unions, and the state committee of the Y.M.C.A. conducted the fight for a referendum. A vigorous campaign to secure the necessary signatures through the instrumentality of the churches was launched. It was announced the drive had failed, only 3600 signatures having been obtained.

The following statement of the committee on the boxing act referendum of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches was given out today by Rev. T. Tallmadge Root, secretary of the federation:

"We have failed to secure the 15,000 signatures required to place a referendum upon the ballot for the November election. The reason for the failure is so significant that we feel it best to make a frank statement to the public.

"The difficulty lay in the fact that members of the churches and their allied organizations were taking a vacation during July and August. The churches were given out today by Rev. T. Tallmadge Root, secretary of the federation:

"In regard to the special issue, the majority of our legislature seem to feel that it is a legitimate step to prohibit boxing. The Massachusetts Federation of Churches has steadily opposed similar measures for years, having been convinced that they would have the same effect as the infamous Fawcett law of New York, that would discourage legitimate boxing for recreation and exercise, and permit and promote prize fighting which inevitably tend to brutality and danger.

"Members of the churches, if such there be, will do well to congratulate themselves too soon. They must beware of the next round. The churches are like a Dutch oven, hot on the outside, but cold on the inside. The act will take effect immediately in a city upon its acceptance by the voters at an annual or special town meeting, the question not to be placed on the ballot, however, unless petitioned for by not less than ten per cent of the registered voters.

"The act provides for a commission of three, one of whom is to be the commissioner of public safety, Arthur F. Foote. The other two members are to be appointed by the governor for a term of two and three years, respectively, at salaries not to exceed $250. All boxing matches of a professional nature, at which an admission fee is charged must be licensed at a fee varying from $25 to $500. Every exhibitor must deposit a bond for $5000 with the commission. All professional referees, judges, timekeepers, boxers, managers, trainers and seconds, participating in professional matches, must be licensed and pay a fee, the latter not to exceed $25. A licensed referee will be in charge of every match and two judges must also be present to render the decision. If they cannot agree the referee must permit the match. No boxer will be permitted to enter the ring unless examined by a physician not more than three hours before a match and found to be in good condition. The gloves may not exceed ten ounces and the rounds must weigh at least six ounces each. Licensees must turn over five per cent of the gross receipts of every match to the commission.

FOR TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The third round of tennis for the singles championship of the United States today brought R. Norris Williams 2nd, of Boston, and Willis E. Davis of San Francisco together. Williams, twice holder of the title and Davis, a member, met the 13th man on the ranking list.

Nathaniel W. Niles of Boston played William M. Johnston of San Francisco, present holder of the title.

Charles S. Garland, former Yale star, played Frank T. Anderson of Philadelphia. Garland was pitted against Dean Mathew of New York and William T. Tilden 2nd, of Philadelphia, who recently won the world's title in England, met Samuel S. Hardy.

BICYCLIST INJURED

A man residing at 32 Common street, but whose name could not be learned, was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle in Bridge street, Dracut Centre, last evening and received a fractured rib and contusions about the face. His "wheel" was demolished. The automobile that figured in the accident was being operated by Charles F. Everett of 1439 Gorham street, who claims the collision was due to the fact that there was no rear light on the bicycle.

RAIL WORKERS FIRST TO GREET COX ON HIS ARRIVAL IN N. Y.

NEW YORK—Railroad men were the first to greet Governor Cox when he arrived in New York. When his train pulled into the Pennsylvania station, railroad workers from all parts of the station swarmed up to his car to shake the governor's hand. Rail workers all over the country are lining up enthusiastically for the Ohio governor.

LEAGUE TITLE IN DOUBT

K. of C. Victory Over Gillespies Protested—Appeal to League Officials

Despite the fact that the Twilight League series was to have formally closed last evening, the championship organization is still in doubt. The Gillespies were defeated by the Knights of Columbus last evening, 1 to 0, and ordinarily the title would go to the South Ends who lead by a game, however, owing to the fact that the K. of C. used three Nashua players in their lineup, an alleged violation of the league rules. Manager Bird of the Gillespies has entered a protest against last evening's game. The matter will be ironed out this evening. If the Gillespies are awarded the game, a tie for the league leadership will result.

Last evening's game was one of the best seen in Lowell in many months. Whitney, one of the K. of C. "ringers," was on the mound and performed in a wonderful manner. He had speed and a change of pace that was most puzzling to Gillespie bat-wielders.

Sam Pouliot pitched for the Gillespies and allowed the Knights to only run, but that was enough to win. The game was given out today by Rev. T. Tallmadge Root, secretary of the federation:

"In addition to Whitney on the mound, the Knights also brought Ryan of Nashua to third base and Page of the same place to second. All three men played excellent ball. The game went seven innings and was witnessed by a capacity crowd. The score:

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Mahson M. Harok and Miss Samilla J. Assard were married Monday at the parsonage of the Gorham Street P. M. church, 15 Ellsworth street by Rev. N. W. Matthews. The couple were attended by Messrs. Ali Mahmood and Kadar Hassan.

Rousseau—Rousseau

The marriage of Mr. Edwin Rousseau, formerly of Worcester and now of this city, and Miss Florida Rousseau, a well known member of St. Joseph's parish, took place this morning at a private nuptial mass celebrated in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory at 8 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Rosario Jalbert, O.M.I.

The bride wore a blue traveling suit with picture hat to match and carried American beauties. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Frank Rousseau, while the groom was attended by an uncle of the bride, Mr. Adolphe Roy. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Elisee Rousseau, 14 Spalding street, and later the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous gifts left on a month's honeymoon trip to Montreal, Naperville and Quebec. Upon their return they will make their home at 14 Spalding street.

Cummings—Kane

Daniel Murray Cummings, son of Mr. Lawrence and Elizabeth Cummings, of 29 Huntington street, and Miss Florence Kane, daughter of Mr. John and Jane A. Kane of 333 High street, were married in the chapel of the Immaculate Conception church this morning by Rev. Fr. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor. The mass following the marriage ceremony was celebrated by Rev. William J. Stanton, S. J., uncle of the bridegroom. The best man was Edward S. Cummings, brother of the bridegroom, a commissioned officer in the U.S.N.R.F. during the world war and a graduate of the Lowell Textile school in 1915. Miss Helen Kane, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Lincoln school. The reception was held at the home of the bride, 233 High street. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. On returning from their wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Cummings will live at 61 Temple street, this city.

CONDITION NOT SERIOUS

MANAGER

ELECT GRAMMAR SCHOOL MASTERS

Lowell Man and Cambridge Man Elected By School Committee

Cambridge Man to Receive More Salary on Account of Experience

Charles E. Delorme of this city and John G. Wolcott of Cambridge were elected grammar school masters by the school committee last evening to be assigned to schools later. Mr. Delorme's salary was fixed at $1900 and Mr. Wolcott's at $2250, the difference being explained by the fact that Mr. Wolcott has had four more years' teaching experience than the Lowell man.

Mr. Delorme is a graduate of Boston college and also attended the Boston Normal school. While at the latter institution he was offered a position at Trinity college school in Canada and taught there for two years.

Mr. Wolcott has taught six years in the Cambridge high school. He is a graduate of Harvard university and has given considerable study to the junior high school system.

Although Mr. Delorme's election was by unanimous vote, Chairman Delaney and Mr. Markham opposed Mr. Wolcott's selection on the ground that he was an out of town man. Messrs. Keyes, Pearson and Rooney, however, cited the fact that he was experienced in junior high school work and was recommended by the superintendent.

Miss Bessie D. Handlett, Miss Edith Atwood and Miss Catherine L. Farley were elected teachers in the Barrett school and Miss Margaret E. McGinn was elected clerk in the Vocational school having been certified by the civil service commission.

A number of salaries of high school teachers were readjusted as follows: Elmer G. Brennan, $2500; Charles E. Seede, $2470; Fred Albionson, $2400; Beach, James A. Shanley, C. Fred Campbell and Joseph G. Pyne, $2300 each; Donald McIntire, $2270; and John D. McKinley, $2130.

At the request of William A. Mitchell two teachers in the Americanization classes were granted leaves of absence to attend a teachers' conference, their expenses to be paid by Mr. Mitchell.

The date of the opening of the continuation schools was fixed at Sept. 20 and of the evening schools, Oct. 4.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate AT PUBLIC AUCTION

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, AT 3 P. M.

AT NOS. 52, 53, 57, 101, 102, 103, 107, 115 and 117 LAKEVIEW AVE. AND NOS. 1, 2, 3 and 4 IN THE REAR OF NOS. 115 and 117 LAKEVIEW AVE. ALSO A PARCEL OF LAND ON CLIFTON PLACE. ALL ARE TO BE SOLD IN ONE LOT TO THE PERSON THAT WILL BID THE HIGHEST AND COMPLY WITH THE CONDITIONS OF SALE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Felix Dobrowsky to James Galvin and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, I shall sell at public auction, at three o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, the following described land and buildings.

This real estate consists of five separate buildings with the land and also another piece of lot of land on Clifton Place described as follows: Nos. 93-95 and 97 Lakeview Ave. is a three-story French slate roof house that has four tenements and a store, all square rooms.

Nos. 101-103-105 and 107 Lakeview Ave. is a 2½-story house that has one tenement and two stores.

No. 107 consists of a store with a large bottling factory attached that is 2-stories high with floor space of about 50 by 30 feet on two floors; has an elevator. The store and bottling factory are heated by steam.

Nos. 115 and 117 Lakeview Ave. has two tenements and one store and is a 2½-story building.

Nos. 1 and 2 in the rear of 115 and 117 Lakeview Ave. is a 1½-story house and has two tenements.

Nos. 3 and 4 in the rear of Nos. 1 and 2 is a 1½-story house and has two tenements.

There is also a good sized barn on the rear of this lot. This property contains 12,632 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 157-50x160 feet on Lakeview Ave. This property has all city conveniences and has good yards around the buildings that allow plenty of light and air.

Also included under the mortgage is a certain parcel of land situated on Clifton Place that joins the above described real estate at the rear, containing 1751 square feet, more or less, with a frontage of 32-22x100 feet on Clifton Place. This would make a good lot to build on.

The entire property rents for $137.00 per month or $1644.00 per year and is in good rentable condition.

For any person desiring to purchase this parcel of real estate, the opportunity now presents itself to you where you can receive a good and sure return on your investment.

Lakeview Ave. is a good business street, 5 minutes' walk to Merrimack square. Five minutes' walk will take you to all the large mills. Electric cars in the street. These tenements are never idle.

The chance is offered to you now. Think it over and attend the sale. Terms of sale: $1500 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. Sold subject to all unpaid taxes or other municipal assessments. Other terms at sale. Per order.

JAMES GALVIN, Mortgagee.

ANNIVERSARY MASS
An anniversary solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Octave Champagne was celebrated this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. The celebrant was Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O.M.I. as deacon and Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I. as sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of Telephone Male rendered the Gregorian chant. At 10 o'clock the choir rendered "Pie Jesu" and after the elevation Dr. George E. Calise sang "O Meritum Passionis." Miss Lena B. Caprio presided at the organ.

Melons were first extensively cultivated in France early in the 17th century.

MORE ARRESTS BY FEDERAL OFFICERS

Federal Officers O'Dea and Hickey, assisted by Officers Winn and Clark of the local liquor squad made two more arrests yesterday for violation of the prohibition laws. Andrew Guyette, an alleged bootlegger and an operative living on Bridge street, was arrested by Officer Winn. Two pints of whiskey and a whiskey glass were found on him, the police say. John Jacob, a laborer of Front street was also arrested and booked late last evening at the station. In a house in Moody street the officers seized a 15 gallon still, one 10 gallon boiler, six gallons of moonshine and 75 gallons of mash. In this instance the proprietor escaped. In another house in Fourth avenue they found one gallon of moonshine and one 10-gallon still and here also the owner was not arrested. In the two latter cases warrants will be issued.

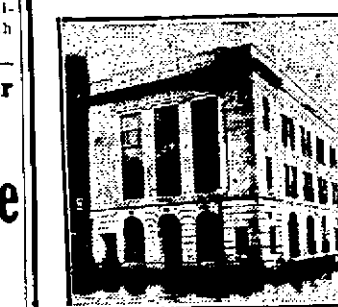

BODIES OF TRAGEDY VICTIMS BURIED

The bodies of Adelard or Joseph Lapointe and Mrs. Etzelka or Marie Gellinas, found last Sunday afternoon in a tenement at 231 Dutton street, a tragedy on which the police are still working were buried this morning under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell and Sons. Lapointe's body was buried in St. Joseph's cemetery and that of the woman in the Edison cemetery.

ONLY MAKER OF OCARINAS DEAD

HONEYE FALES, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Rudolf Tescher, the only manufacturer of ocarinas in the United States, is dead at his home east of this village. He discovered the instrument in a collection of objects taken from the ruins of Pompeii and returning home succeeded in making one and introducing it into the modern musical world. Later he improved it. He was 73 years of age.

The salary attached to the position is $1000 a year. Candidates should make application as soon as possible to the civil service commission at the state house in Boston.
Nearly 150 representatives of various Lowell military units which took part in the world war participated in the parade and reception held in honor of Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards in Boston yesterday afternoon upon the occasion of his relinquishing the command of the Northeastern department to report to a southern post. The Lowell men were assigned to the section commanded by Capt. Dee of Concord and upon their return reported that the affair rivalled the big parade held in 1919 to welcome home the 24th Division.

Jazz Curfew at 11 O'clock Nightly

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Quaint Greenwich village, New York's Bohemian quarter, famous in song and story as the home of new thought, has something new to occupy its attention—a jazz curfew at 11 o'clock nightly. This ultra modern idea was not of the village's own initiative. It was decreed by a matter-of-fact magistrate in the Jefferson Market court, who ordered the clanging of cowbells and the moaning saxophone to cease their jangle in the Cherry Blossom tea room an hour before midnight, in order that complaining nearby tenants might sleep.

Priority Order to N. E. Coal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Owing to congestion of coal at Atlantic ports the interstate commerce commission suspended for five days beginning tomorrow, its recent order giving priority to coal shipments by water to New England states.

According to the order holding coal under priority in railroad cars at Atlantic ports has resulted in undue delay to rail equipment as ships are not available for loading. By suspending the priority order the commission hopes to end the congestion and release many coal cars.

return, is still kept on the books of the commission. Today Mayor Thompson was asked by Secretary John C. Gilbert to rectify the matter, but inasmuch as Dr. Jewett notified the commission authorities of his return some time ago, the mayor could only refer the civil service people to their own records.

TWO DIE IN BLAZING PLANE

Government Airplane Came Down in Flames at Morristown, New Jersey

Mail Bags Thrown Hundreds of Feet—Most of It Is Destroyed

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Sept. 1.—Two men were burned to death in a government all-metal airplane which crashed in flames in this city today. Mail bags were thrown hundreds of feet. The pilots were placed under the wreckage. A notebook found in the wreckage contained the name of T. T. Miller and a collar was marked T.R.L. The mail bags bore the tags Jefferson Terminal, Chicago, and carried mail for Ohio, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Most of the mail was destroyed. Some was raked up in burlap bags. It was postmarked Hudson Terminal, Aug. 31, 5:30 p. m., Pennsylvania Terminal, N. Y., and Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The only mail plane known to be in the vicinity of Morristown was said by postal authorities here to be one of those engaged in the New York-Cleveland-Chicago run, scheduled to leave New York for the west early today. It was driven by Max Miller, one of the most experienced mail pilots, assisted by Mechanician Richardson.

ANOTHER BUMP FOR POOR OLD DOBBIN

Last night witnessed the passing of "Old Dobbin" at the local postoffice. For many years horse-drawn vehicles have been handling much of the mail on the rural routes and through the city. Now, however, the postal department is completely motorized and Postmaster Meehan believes that the automobiles will give much more efficient service at all times except when terrible winter storms hold up all kinds of traffic.

At least seven horses had to be used, at great expense to the government, both in day and night work. The delivery equipment now consists of seven automobiles, and three motorcycles equipped with side-cars and commercial bodies.

"Within a week," Postmaster Mee-
